Easy to Build Crystal Set—and It's Cheap!

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
N. E. A. Service Radio Editor

From the beginning the crystal has never lost its prestige as a good detector.

Vacuum tubes of all kinds are being used today, in all sorts of more or less complicated manner, yet the crystal remains the simplest and most efficient for local reception.

And since the tendency seems to be toward local broadcasting, through the unification of various stations and the strengthening of many others, the crystal will more and more become the best means for good reception.

Crystalline noise does not trouble the fan with a crystal set. Clearer reception than otherwise is his reward.

They're Cheap
The greatest satisfaction of all is that a good crystal set can be produced for about $3, excluding cost of a good set of headphones. The set to be described can be built for this amount, and no mechanical genius is required to do it.

The parts for this simple crystal set are:

One piece dielectric tubing, 4 inches in diameter and 6 inches long.
One pound No. 16, D.C.C. wire.
One crystal, mounted.
One fixed condenser, .001 mfd. capacity.
Two switch levers.
Sixteen switch points and four switch stops.
Four binding posts.

The entire set can be built on a 6 inch by 8-inch panel and a 6-inch by 6-inch base.

Easy to Make
The tuning coil, mounted on the tubing, consists of 70 turns of wire. The first 60 turns are tapped off at every 10th turn. The remaining 10 turns are tapped off at every turn, making 16 taps in all.

The taps are made by allowing about a half-inch of the wire where required.

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Me.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a God-send to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. JAMES M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

HOOKUP AND PANEL LAYOUT OF CRYSTAL SET.

then continuing winding. The taps are then scraped clean and a short piece of the same wire soldered on for connection to each of the 16 taps. Rosin should be used as a solder flux, rather than soldering paste or fluid. Leads from the taps to the panel should be as short as possible. Because the detector point is usually adjusted by hand, it should be connected in the ground side of the circuit, as shown, to avoid body capacity effect and detuning of signals.

Above all, a good crystal and a good receiving headset aid the efficiency of the set. For operation, move the wire about the crystal until a sharp click is heard. Then turn the switch controlling every tenth turn until a rushing noise is heard. Turning the switch for the signal coils will bring the signals in clearly.

CAMDEN, Me., Aug. 2.—Fire today destroyed the wharf and buildings here owned by the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., with a loss of about $25,000. Passengers and freight were landed at Rockland and this arrangement will continue until a new wharf can be built. The cause of the fire was undetermined.

EXCHANGES RALLY AS PLAN MEETS FAVOR

NEW YORK, August 2.—The reaching of an agreement by the Inter-allied conference, probably paving the way for execution of the Dawes plan and a general European settlement of the reparations problem, caused a sharp rally in the foreign exchanges at the opening of today's market.

Demand sterling mounted to a new high price for the year at $4.43, an overnight gain of more than two cents, and almost that much over the previous 1924 top reached on July 22. French francs responded with a ten-point advance, selling at 5.25 cents. Foreign exchange dealers reported trading with buying orders for the allied currencies steadily increasing in volume.

VISIT HARDING TOMB
Former Neighbors of Departed President at Graveside in Marion Cemetery

MARION, O., Aug. 2.—Simplicity marked the first anniversary of the death of the late President Warren G. Harding in this, his home town. Always avoiding ostentatious ceremony while he lived, his wishes were being followed after death. No public ceremony had been arranged other than the laying of a wreath at his tomb in the cemetery here. The wreath sent by President Coolidge was to be placed without pomp.

During the day hundreds wound their way along the shadowy paths of the cemetery, stood for a few moments with bowed heads at his tomb and passed on.

At 7 o'clock, the hour of his death at the Palace hotel in San Francisco one year ago, the old bell in the central fire station was to sound for the departed executive. At the first stroke friends and neighbors of the nation's former chief are to have their hands in reverence lifted for five minutes.

Dr. G. T. Harding, the former president's aged father, himself in failing health, was not to take part in any ceremony. With a few friends he may visit the tomb.

STICKS TO THROTTLE TO END!

Harry Johnson of Cleveland, engineer on the Wheeling & Lake Erie, was faithful to his trust to the end. Rounding a sharp curve near Canton, O., he saw a trestle just ahead on fire. It was too late to stop his train. He ordered his fireman to jump, but he remained at the throttle, for the lives of 90 passengers were in his hands. The engine and three cars, mail, baggage and day coach, plunged off the bridge into a creek below, then caught fire. Twenty passengers were injured, but only one seriously. Johnson's heroism had saved their lives though it cost him his own. The picture shows the debris of the trestle and destroyed cars.

EVEN SPECIALISTS FAILED
Then the Fruit Treatment—"Fruit-a-lives" Brought Complete Relief

It is simply marvelous how successful the Fruit Treatment is in overcoming chronic troubles like Constipation, Dyspepsia and Rheumatism.

The juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—intensified and combined with tonics—are made into small tablets called "Fruit-a-lives," which have proven the marvels of the medical world for many diseases.

For instance, Mr. James A. Shell, 80 Oakhill ave., Waterbury, Conn., says: "I recommend 'Fruit-a-lives' to anyone suffering from chronic Constipation. Having suffered for ten years, and receiving little relief from specialists, I at last have been helped by your good tablets."

NEWFOUNDLAND STRIKE LIKELY TO RESULT IN GREAT DAMAGE

Ugly Attitude of Disgruntled Workmen Evidenced in Exchange of Telegrams Between Their Leader and Premier—Wage Increase Demand Not Met

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 2.—The telegrams exchanged yesterday between Premier Monro and Alfred Prince, head of the committee of strikers on the construction work of the Humbermouth Paper and Power plant on the west coast of Newfoundland, was made public today, showing the belligerent attitude of the strikers, who seek a ten per cent wage increase. Prince's first telegram read: "We want you at once. Three thousand men will board it, government or company expense. If train comes and you are not there, will be sent back and demand you. I know express will not cross island until you come." To this the premier replied: "In best interest of all concerned, I suggest call off strikers for present, giving government time to close the house and investigate the whole situation at Cornerbrook. Personally desiring giving every assistance possible." Prince wired back: "Four thousand men demand your presence at Cornerbrook at once. If not, plant and forest will be laid in ruins. Every man demands free meals after tomorrow at government or company expense."

CAPITAL "SASSIETY" FRETS OVER ALICE'S "MEMOIRS"

BY HARRY B. HUNT
N. E. A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Washington "society," both official and unofficial, is all keyed up over word that Alice Longworth, "Princess Alice" of the old Roosevelt days, is writing her "memoirs." "Will she tell this?" and "Will she tell that?" is being asked on every hand by persons and personages who know that, if she wrote without reservations, Mrs. Longworth could tell not one or two, but a host of cuts out of the bag. For her reminiscences could cover not merely the inside doings of social Washington for the last 25 years, but could reveal the inner intimacies that have shaped official and political history through many campaigns and administrations. Probably no one in Washington could so certainly produce a "best seller" as this daughter of "P. R." Her knack, as a girl, of delighting in doing the unusual, has been carried over into her more mature years in the ability to view and say things openly, and always with a "pinch."

Confirmation of Mrs. Longworth's alleged literary efforts, however, is lacking. Possibly she's getting a lot of fun out of the suspense, the unconfirmed report has caused. Certainly she has the town "guessing."

Another guessing contest, in which politically minded gentlemen, however, are most concerned, is that of trying to forecast who will be the next, from either of the old parties, to desert to Senator La Follette.

IN NEW YORK

By Stephen Hannagan
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Man never is satisfied with the things at his disposal. Out in rum row, 12 miles off the coast where rum boats anchor and await the coming of small boats from the shore, the crews have champagne, other fancy wines and liquors to quench their thirsts. But they weren't satisfied as they waited the long days and longer nights. They wanted beer. Thirty kegs were captured en route to the rum float from the main land the other evening.

"Sore Legs" is a term applied to artists who are skipping a day's work. It originated years ago, I am told, with a newspaper artist, who, when for one reason or another he wanted to remain at home, would call his office and complain, "I can't come down today, I got 'sore legs'."

In a letter from New York this letter has been posted on the bulletin board: "Please find my husband. He is working in a factory in your town. Tell him that the chickens won't lay since he left. I've tried having nearly everybody in town feed them but they won't eat. If he knew this he'd come home."

The letter, written by a woman in Norfolk, Va., was received by a postmistress, who is doing everything to find the husband.

NATIONS AGREE AT CONFERENCE

Complete Program for Launching Dawes Reparation Plan is Agreed Upon

Allied Premiers and American Ambassador Kellogg Take Up Technical Points

When the agreement was reached the wearied experts, including the Americans, James A. Logan and Owen D. Young, and Mr. Progan of Great Britain, who have slept little during the last 48 hours, left the conference room and the chief delegates began framing the invitation for the German government to send a delegation to London.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—A complete program for launching the Dawes reparation settlement was agreed upon by the international conference during a half-hour plenary session at the foreign office this morning. The allied premiers and American Ambassador Kellogg took up the technical point with which the experts had vainly struggled in two all-night sessions, and after modifications which Premier MacDonald and Herriot accepted the compromise settlement was reached.

HOLLYWOOD, August 1. The man who "found" Harold Lloyd, Hal E. Roach, now has one in process of grooming who he hopes will equal or surpass the great Harold. Glenn Tryon, 25, and inclining toward suave loquacious, is the name of his potential luminary. He has just completed "The Battling Orioles," feature comedy, for Roach, which gives his first indication of the correctness of the production.

The story, written by Roach himself, for release through Pathé, utilizes some entirely new elements for comedy, much to its advantage. Longest remembered of these will be a baseball game of long ago, guaranteed to draw forth even from those surfeited with the counterfactual situations too often handed us under the name of "new" comedy.

After which preface there is a decided dig in the story while the characters are reintroduced to us in modern life. The hero, Tryon, is first shown to us in his barber shop shaving a man, with customary by-play surrounding this process—all more suitable to privacy than exhibition on the screen.

Then the story moves along in regular order, amusing situations following in rapid sequence, semblance of a live story interwoven, until climax comes with a fight to long-drawn-out and ludicrous in handling and participants, half of the latter being men all past the allotted three score years and ten.

Blanche McAffee, late of the Follies, plays opposite Tryon, pulchritudinally, athletically, and artistically, but chief interest naturally centers about him of the Hal Roach predictions.

First and foremost, Tryon is of pleasing screen personality, easily convincing, breezy offhandness and in pathos, a little of which—mere "feeler" perhaps—Roach allows him.

But there is much more to be done before Tryon achieves the depth of Lloyd, Chaplin or other comedians. Too much mingling yet of superficial reaction to situation, too little under-the-skin feeling in his part.

ANNIVERSARY MASS

There will be an anniversary mass of requiem for the repose of the soul of Thomas J. Carroll at St. Patrick's church Monday morning at 7:30.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, wish to express our sincere thanks to those who by their offerings of floral tributes and spiritual comforts, acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy, served to lighten the burden of grief at the time of the death of husband and brother. Such evidences of true friendship we shall ever cherish in lasting remembrance.

Plane Separates in Fall

between the Faroe islands and Iceland, reported this afternoon that Lieut. Eric Nelson in the New Orleans was passing over, headed for Hornafjord, Iceland.

KIRK WALL, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The American army airmen on their world flight struck a heavy fog off the north coast of the Orkneys after setting out from here for Iceland early today and the planes became separated. Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. Leigh Wade circled their machines for some time in a hunt for Lieut. Eric Nelson in the New Orleans, who was apparently in the rear, but not finding him returned to Kirkwall.

The machines put back afterwards settled down in Houton bay to await the return of Lieut. Nelson. A wireless message to the cruiser Richmond which had preceded the airplanes notified her of the situation and she is returning.

Lieutenant Smith expressed his belief that Lieutenant Nelson was continuing on to Iceland.

The flight commander said that just after clearing the Orkneys the three planes plunged into a dense fog, extending up 3000 feet. The fliers avoided it by dodging eastward, but were soon trapped in another thicker fog.

The fliers immediately lost sight of each other, but Smith and Wade, turning eastward, came together in a clear space 25 miles off Birsay, in the Orkneys.

They searched half an hour for Lieutenant Nelson and then abandoned the hunt to seek for the Richmond in order to drop a message bag. The Richmond was hidden in another fog off the West Orkneys, and then they gave up this effort and returned over Kirkwall, dropping their message and then anchoring in Houton bay. Lieuts. Smith and Wade returned to Kirkwall at 11:20 o'clock. Their machines flew over Kirkwall and a message from Lieut. Smith was dropped reading: "Send a message to the Richmond that we all became separated in the fog and that Wade and I have returned. Have not seen Nelson since we became separated on the course 25 miles from Birsay."

WOULD CURTAIL OLYMPIC GAMES

Proposal is to Pattern Contests More After Original Grecian Games

Ton Many Events Now for Smaller Nations to Compete is Claim

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—A radical change in the programs of Olympic games to a pattern more resembling that of the original Olympics in ancient Greece, involving a reduction of the number of contests to 42, is urged by Erik Bergvall, director of the Olympic stadium in Stockholm, and a well known leader in Swedish athletics.

Mr. Bergvall attaches paramount importance to the power of the Olympic game to strengthen the feeling of solidarity among nations, as the Olympics in ancient Greece helped to bind together the states, but he points out that it is becoming increasingly difficult for smaller nations to participate on the large scale which the modern games demand. The ancient games lasted only five days and there were only 15 or 16 events on the program, while the modern games, lasting for months and have all the way from 103 to 300 events.

The Swedish expert grants that eliminate and other physical circumstances make it necessary for various nations to develop sports more or less peculiar to themselves, and in which they would naturally be expected to win the highest prizes, hence it would not be fair to cut the program down to the ancient limits. Yet, allowing for this variety, he thinks the number of events could be reduced to 42.

The ideal program, according to Mr. Bergvall, is as follows:
Running, 100, 400, 1500 and 5000 meter races; hurdles one event; high jump, broad jump, pole vault, javelin, discus, shot, hammer, pentathlon, equestrian, wrestling, in five classes, gymnastic drill, swimming 100, 200, 500, 1500 meter races; boxing in five classes, Mr. Bergvall objects to team contests for Olympic reasons. This is all eliminate football, relay teams, etc. He would omit rowing and sailing contests because it is virtually impossible to find a place for professional athletes who offer fair conditions to all competitors. His recommendations leaving out all winter sports, a line in which the Swedes themselves excel, and further thinks that motor races, bicycle races, golf, shooting, tennis and weight lifting have no proper place in an Olympic program.

GREENHALL GIRLS WON

The girls of the Greenhall playground defeated the Allen street girls at baseball by a 5-4 score yesterday afternoon. A star catch in left field by Mabel O'Connor made the feature play of the game. Rose O'Neill was the winning pitcher.

POLITICS NOW THE ONLY TOPIC OF CONVERSATION IN WASHINGTON

Triangular Contest Discussed—Senator D. I. Walsh Favorably Regarded at Capitol—Campaign Guns Being Loaded—Coolidges Drop Social Life

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 2.—You talk politics in Washington today or you don't talk at all. There is nothing else in the air.

The three party contest for the November election is the main topic of the day. "The Man Without a Country" is the only running mate to the La Follette candidacy, whose following has yet failed to take on a name under which to sail through the turbulent waters of a national election.

Prominent men of both the regular political parties are fighting shy of La Follette's friendship these days.

Our own Senator David I. Walsh, whom La Follette and Wheeler smile upon, may not suffer from the blight of their professed friendship, but Walsh is too staunch a party man to appreciate their "kind words" at this moment.

Walsh has the respect and kindly regard of every senator now in office. Even those who differ from him in political faith, honor his views and appreciate his sound and eloquent presentations of the political views he holds.

It was not necessary for La Follette and Wheeler to mention the fact that they are friendly to Walsh. Everybody on the floor of the senate is friendly to Walsh personally, and to emphasize their views was to play to the galleries, in the hope of entangling Walsh, as a personal friend, in the political meshes of an insistent net with which he can have no possible sympathy.

It ought not to have any untoward effect on Walsh, for his party loyalty, his staunchness in upholding the principles of democracy and his splendid record as a democratic governor and senator put him beyond the pale of La Folletteism and the evils it entails.

Campaign Guns Being Loaded

While the democratic presidential candidate was taking life easy down in Maine, former Chairman Hull and the newly elected chairman, Mr. Shaver, were busy in the national committee changed horses preparatory to a vigorous campaign as soon as the two presidential candidates have been formally notified of their nominations and the opening guns of the fight have been fired.

Senator Tom Heflin of Alabama, however, isn't waiting for any formal announcements, but is being hot shot into the republican camp along the lines with which the senate is so familiar. At this moment he is making Republican Chairman Butler the target of his arrows. Heflin reminds the public that just as in 1912 Roosevelt and the third ticket put the democrats in power, so now, in 1924, La Follette and the third ticket is likely to put Davis to the front. Heflin predicts that the second place will be held by La Follette and Coolidge will trail along in the third place.

But Heflin's confidence in the outcome is not spreading to the more conservative and level headed democrats and they are working "tooth and nail" to secure a big majority at the November election, and take no chances on what a third party may do.

While Heflin is loudly against Butler, the republicans are equally against "Tom" Heflin, who is being thrust upon the point of referring to Butler as "BILL".

If the coldness of Lodge can be outdone by any New Englander, it is current opinion in Washington that Butler is the man to do the job, and one would as soon think of greeting the senior senator with a gleeful "Hi, Uncle Sam" as to refer to Mr. Butler other than as the Honorable William M.

REAL ESTATE SALES

T. H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week:

In the Belvidere section, conveyance has been effected of the investment parcel at 77-79 Chestnut st. The property comprises a block of four apartments with five rooms each and is situated directly at the entrance to Chestnut square. Land approximately 6200 square feet is conveyed, carrying an assessment at the rate of 30 cents per square foot. The sale is negotiated on behalf of George C. Palmer. The purchaser is William M. O'Connell, Mr. O'Connell purchasing for purposes of investment and will continue to rent the property as in the past.

Final papers have been sent to record in the transfer of an investment property at 27-29 Whipple street. The parcel comprises a block of two apartments of six rooms each and a store. The land conveyed totals 5192 square feet assessed at 20c. per foot. The transfer is effected on behalf of the resident owners, Michael Ruskey and Helen Butler. The purchasers are Anthony Suley and Anastasia Suley, who come to Lowell from Clinton, Mass.

In connection with the above sale, conveyance is also effected of a thriving market and grocery store located at 31 Whipple street. The store is provided with every modern appointment and carries a large stock of groceries and market supplies. The transfer in this instance is Michael Ruskey and the grantee Anthony Suley. Mr. Suley has already taken possession of the premises.

On behalf of Manuel E. Sousa, proprietor of Sousa's department store, on Middlesex street, a sale has been made of his residence at 435-437 Chalmersford street, directly at its junction with Norcross. This property comprises a high-grade two-apartment house with six rooms and bath each. It is thoroughly modern in its appointments and is of comparative recent construction. There is an excellent double garage on the premises. The land involved totals 4883 square feet with an extended street frontage on both streets. The purchaser is Mrs. Emma P. Donnelly, who buys for personal occupancy.

Former Vice Pres. Marshall

Former Vice President Marshall says he was recently called on to deliver an address at Culter academy, which is a military school, and that his funny bone was tickled when he found that a medal was to be bestowed on an athletic youth because he had lost 30 pounds within a given time. To lose fat and gain a medal, though it tickled that the president's sense of humor, roused in him the interesting comparison, which he used in his address, that "we could put up a better fight in life if we dropped some of the fat in the affairs of life." Among the fat makers that spoil men, Marshall rooks away, medals, honors, etc., etc. He says "accept the gifts the gods have given us" and stop worrying about those we have not had handed to us, and the United States would immediately become better. And Marshall, with his ready wit and keen tongue made a hit at the academy by taking

CONGRESSIONAL FIGHT

C. F. Cronin Files Papers for Democratic Nomination for Congressman

Holding Office Open for Man to Be Picked by State Committee

Democratic Organization and Davis Club Members Want Humphrey O'Sullivan

Cornelius F. Cronin, of 344 Varnum avenue, has filed papers for the democratic nomination for congressman from the Fifth district, in opposition to Hon. John Jacob Rogers. Mr. Cronin says he is simply holding the place open for some other man to be picked by the state democratic committee and the Davis club members.

He intimates that Humphrey O'Sullivan is the man desired, but as he is out of town at present, no decision will be forthcoming at once.

"The democratic organization in the state and the Davis club members want Mr. O'Sullivan as a candidate in the Fifth district," said Mr. Cronin. "but I am ready to withdraw in favor of any man named."

Yesterday was the last day for filing nomination papers for state officers in the local representative districts, the 14th, 15th and 16th, four, five and six-cornered fights will be staged for the primaries. In the 14th district, for instance, the present representatives, Owen E. Brennan and Charles H. Stacey, have six opponents of whom four are democrats and two are republicans. Representatives Jewett, Achin and Jewett in the 15th district find four opponents, all republicans, and in the 16th district, four democrats seek the place made vacant by withdrawal of Rep. Thomas J. Sweeney. City councilors who seek legislative seats include Frederick A. Sadler and Daniel F. Moriarty in the 14th district and Eugene A. Fitzgerald in the fourteenth.

Following is a complete list of the candidates who have filed papers with the Lowell election commission:

SUMMER REVIEW SCHOOL

Lowell Summer Review High School Term Will Close

Aug. 15

The summer review high school term closes for the present season on Friday, August 15. Examinations covering the work of the term that opened so successfully on Monday, July 7, last, will be conducted on the last two days of the term, August 14 and 15.

If the full enrollment of boy and girl high school pupils of the first and second (freshman and sophomore) grades responds to the summons for the final examinations that are necessary to establish the pupils' status in his class and studies to come after the September re-opening of school, 263 separate papers will have to be read and passed upon by those who are assigned to the task.

Everything will depend upon examinations and the careful judging and reporting on the results attained by the scores of aspirants in the struggle. That the approach of the last day of the summer review high school is anticipated with eager interest and hopefulness, goes without saying.

No similar institution conducted by Lowell high school authorities in sympathetic aid of "backward" pupils is carried on more earnestly with splendid direction at all times by selected educators to aid boys and girls in "catching up" with their class before the re-opening of school. The victors are enabled to march happily along with their mates, prepared for the year ahead without regrets.

School pupils failing to reach required percentage standards allowing them to advance into a higher grade when the fall terms open, are often handicapped by the feeling that companions in the race are smarter than they are. The opening of summer review schools, such as the one now in progress at Lowell high school under the direct daily supervision of Headmaster Henry H. Harris and an executive staff of expert teachers and two masculine school instructors proud of their responsible positions, has proved to be a decided step in the right direction in awakening lagging ambitions in school children of backward tendencies.

That many Lowell boys and girls have been helped by this summer review school instruction, is a shining fact. The great majority of pupils who have been attending the 1924 school three hours each day, from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m., five days each week, will be able to take up new advanced studies in a higher school grade when school opens in September.

The average daily attendance of the summer school is about 200. The full enrollment is 250. The daily attendance naturally varies for many different reasons. Last year, the attendance figures were considerably lower, so the school authorities are rather proud of the enrollment for the 1924 season. Last summer, the review class was conducted for backward members of the freshmen class only, those who had failed to attain proper marks to enable them to advance into the sophomore class. This season, there are study periods for both first and second year students, thus aiding more pupils than were provided with facilities last year.

Familiar school subjects are on the 1924 study program, from beginners' algebra, algebra 1A, geometry 1A and 1B, stenography and typewriting, English, French and Latin under the different number and letter designations. The majority of students this year are under the age of 16 years, except in the stenography and typewriting classes, where there are more students 16 years and a little over.

TURPIN, IN LATEST, APES VON STROHEIM

BY A. H. FREDERICK

N.E.A. Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2.—Neither

"Three Weeks" nor "Foolish Wives,"

presenting as they do such ample opportunities for burlesque, should have expected to have cleaned the hands of the funsters. They didn't. Much Sennett recently completed the filming of "Three Foolish Weeks," as the name suggests, a double-barreled burlesque.

Principal star is Ben Turpin, he of the misbehaving eyes and prunkish nature, but otherwise a renovation. Not now the shabby sult and night hawk; no, indeed, Turpin has modeled himself upon the person of Erich von Stroheim, due allowance being made for the different fields of their talents. Bygones, walking stick, uniform and medals all complete.

To those who expect to laugh because of the dissimilar similarity between either of the serious pictures and the takeoff, perhaps Turpin's makeup will be the funniest thing in the picture.

To those who enjoy Turpin and the Sennett studio humor, well, they may expect a two-reel treat in the near future.

Which all leads to the declaration—or hint to theatregoers—that the picture is much more a straightaway Sennett comedy than a burlesque. The title, Turpin's makeup, a tiger-skin rug and a few scattered scenes are the principal connection between it and its serious predecessors.

Considered as a Sennett comedy otherwise severe looking frocks.

Is a Bad Back Wearing You Out?

Do you get up these summer mornings lame, stiff, achy all over? Is each August day but a weary round of throbbing backache and torturing pains? Are you so tired, nervous and dispirited it seems you just can't keep going?

Then why not cleanse your system of the impurities that are making you feel so miserable? Why not help your weakened kidneys as so many Lowell folks have done? Well kidneys keep the blood stream pure. Sluggish kidneys pave the way for slow poisoning of blood and nerves.

Don't wait for some serious kidney trouble. Use Doan's Pills before it is too late. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Lowell Folks:

Mrs. Norman Dow, 10 Smith St., says: "My back was lame and when on my feet long I thought it would give out completely. A pain in my back made it hard to stoop. I had headaches and dizzy spells when everything whirled. My kidneys were badly disordered. Doan's Pills caused every symptom to disappear and I haven't been troubled since."

O. A. Knapp, city groman, 47 Hawthorne St., says: "Exposure in all kinds of weather brought on kidney trouble and I had a pain in my back. When I stooped a stitch caught and soon I had dizzy spells and came near falling over. I got Doan's Pills at Lisick's Drug Store and they rid me of the trouble."

(Statement given November 16, 1921.)

On October 29, 1923, Mr. Knapp said: "I use Doan's occasionally and they never fail to give good results."

America Outpaces Rest of World in Hydro-Electro Power Reserves

UNITED STATES
584,000 MILLION KILOWATT HOURS
TOTAL
356,645 MILLION KILOWATT HOURS

ABOVE—A GIANTIC AMERICAN POWER DAM. BELOW—A COMPARISON BETWEEN THE POWER DEVELOPED BY THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER NATIONS. IN INSET—MAJOR GENERAL SIR PHILIP A. M. NASH, EMINENT BRITISH ENGINEER

By MILTON BRONNER
By N.E.A. Service
LONDON, Aug. 2.—The United States is destined to become the greatest power in the world. This fact was brought out at the world conference on power, held at the British Empire exhibition at Wembley.

Engineers—British and American—testified to this destiny. It is true, they said, because America has more available hydro-electric power than any other nation in the world.

Hydro-electric power, engineers concede, is the future power. The United States already has developed more than any other nation in the world. And it can develop greater quantities than any other nation in the world.

Other nations are reaching the maximum production of coal, oil and hydro-electric power. The United States is the only nation with an appreciable surplus. United States has enough to sell to almost every nation needing it.

Thus, in a short time, the rest of the world will become economic tributaries to the United States.

Furthermore, this great power rating in the United States will enable America to outstrip other nations in peace time manufacturing. This great amount of power will be an insurmountable handicap to other nations in time of war.

Major Gen. Sir Philip Nash, outstanding British authority, showed that the coal, oil and water supply available in 1920, in terms of millions of kilowatt hours, was divided as follows:

United States	584,000
Great Britain	165,000
Germany	143,000
France	29,350
Italy	10,832
Switzerland	7,513

Of this potential energy, the United States consumed only 8.4 per cent; Great Britain, 3.8 per cent; Germany, 6 per cent; France, 16.5 per cent; Italy, 32.1 per cent, and Switzerland, 36.2 per cent.

Britain Next
Great Britain is the only other industrial nation capable of greatly increasing its electrical output. But even at that, the United States had almost four times as much power available.

In 1921 the United States produced 41,000 kilowatt hours against 4,900 for Great Britain, 4,300 for Italy and 3,130 for Switzerland.

Besides this great advantage, America has developed super-power. This is a term applied to the system whereby almost all of the power producers are linked together. When one system requires more power, it draws upon another. When another has a surplus, it sells to a third.

This means that power can be mobilized. It means that waste is eliminated. It means that the surplus can be disposed of.

It also means that coal and oil can be conserved to a greater extent than possible in other countries.

It is the lever by which United States can exercise international economic supremacy.

WISCONSIN GOVERNOR AGAINST PLANS FOR DEFENSE DAY

Communicates With General Commanding District—"Inadvisable to Stimulate National Military Movement," He Says—For Peace Demonstration

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 2.—Gov. Blaine today recorded himself as definitely opposed to national defense day, Sept. 12, and characterized the plan as designed to stimulate a national military movement, which would be taken by foreign countries as a militaristic maneuver. The governor will not designate the day in Wisconsin, it was said.

Mr. Blaine's attitude was contained in a communication to Major General Hale, commander of the Sixth army corps area, Chicago, by Adj. Gen. R. M. Immel, at the governor's direction.

"It is inadvisable for the American government through propaganda and demonstration to stimulate a national military movement," the statement declared, holding that a patriotic demonstration in Wisconsin is unnecessary and that "it would be better to hold a demonstration that would lead the way for foreign nations to universal peace."

TO FIGHT EXTRADITION

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Charles A. Matthews, Jr., former deputy provincial treasurer of Ontario, Canada, held here on a technical charge of illegal entry to the United States, today announced he would fight extradition proceedings if any are brought by the Canadian authorities. Advice received here from Toronto said that Matthews was wanted here in connection with alleged irregularities in the disposition of bonds. Matthews was arrested at Santa Clara Wednesday and told immigration officials then that he would not fight extradition.

TAILTEANN GAMES TODAY IN DUBLIN

DUBLIN, Aug. 2 (By the Associated Press).—Dublin was in fête for the opening of the Tailteann games today, despite the inconvenience caused by the strikes of municipal employees. The electric lighting, which is supplied by the municipality, has been cut off, but the crowded hotels are finding substitutes for it, and the work of cleaning the city, left by the strikers, has been undertaken by citizens.

The decorations give the city an air of freshness such as it has never had before except on the occasion of a royal visit.

Splendid Attraction at Merrimack Square Theatre

Manager Peterson has arranged two exceptionally meritorious features for the bill at the Merrimack Square theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Babbitt," by Sinclair Lewis, celebrated author of the equally celebrated "Main Street," is the undoubted attraction, with such stars as Carmel Myers, Willard Louis, Mary Alden, Raymond McKee and Kathleen Myers in the leading roles. The second attraction is "George Washington, Jr.," an adaptation of the notable George M. Cohan play with popular Wesley Barry in the leading role. Here's a combination that is hard to beat.

Only such a master of characterization as Sinclair Lewis could have built up a "Babbitt," typical of the American business man of practical exterior, whose heart is young with dreams of romance.

Sinclair Lewis, in his book, has drawn to the life, the important man of affairs, whose activities in the civic, social and business world of America have made this country what it is. He is hard-headed, shrewd, money-getting and practical, yet there is the side that never appears—that hunger for

The Bone and Sinew

The readers of THE SUN are the bone and sinew of Lowell. They are practically all Lowell people who have helped to make the city what it is.

They earn their living in Lowell; they spend their money in Lowell; they are the main support of the Lowell merchants.

SUN readers are not in the habit of running to Boston for their supplies. They trade at home.

They are the largest body of newspaper readers in the city, and few of them read any other paper because they don't need to.

There is only one way for the merchant to reach this large, thrifty, industrious and intelligent body of readers, and that is through the columns of THE SUN.

springtime with its fragrance of romance.

That is the character that Willard Louis portrays in the Warner Bros. classic of the screen, "Babbitt." He is bored with his wife, Myra, as played by Mary Alden; tired of the constant quarreling with his children; weary of the colorless routine of his real estate office. Blandly he is seeking the "something" life in cheating him of.

Life to him seemed just a jumble of meaningless days—one as gray as the other. But it was his inner self that was real to Babbitt. Inarticulate, and not given to self expression, it was in his thoughts alone that Babbitt lived as he wanted to—surrounded by beauty and color.

His family is the average American family. Children growing up and developing individual desires and personalities, that conflict with the conservative theories of their parents. The irritating symphony of continual quarrel drives Babbitt to distraction—until in final revolt he breaks the barriers and goes in search of romance.

This philosophy of a man, his family and his friend are remarkably told

WHEELER STANDS CHANCE TO BECOME PRESIDENT

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
N.E.A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—In accepting the progressive nomination for vice president, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana isn't making an unequalled sacrifice of himself, as some people assume.

No, he is dooming himself to become a political nonentity even in the event of victory, as he generally assumed the vice presidential candidate does do, assuming, of course, that the chief magistrate lives out his term and his next in line simply spends four years presiding over the United States senate.

On the contrary, Senator Wheeler, in accepting the progressive nomination, stands the best chance to become, not vice presidential candidate ever did stand.

No national progressive really thinks Senator Robert M. La Follette will have a "majority over all" in the electoral college. Some national progressives say so, but it's just political talk. But the progressives do think their ticket stands a fair chance of getting an electoral plurality, or, if not, that it will run second anyway, and that a plurality will be the best the leading ticket can show.

PLAN MONUMENT FOR U. S. FLIERS

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 2.—A granite and bronze monument will be dedicated on Sand Point aviation field near this city, whence four American army planes started April 6 on a flight around the world, when three of them return there.

The memorial is to consist of a shaft of Washington granite, surmounted by a bronze globe with great bronze wings springing from it. Because the first hard stages of the flight were along Alaska, copper brought from that territory is to be used in making the bronze.

Splendid Picture Offerings at The Rialto

ALICE LAKE, HENRY B. WALTHALL and HELEN FERGUSON in "THE UNKNOWN PURPLE"

"The Unknown Purple," the adaptation of Roland West's stage play which opens at Loew's Rialto Monday, is one of the most thrilling photoplays that has ever been made. Probably the outstanding feature of the picture is the uncanon manner in which the producers have handled the purple ray of light which predominates many of the scenes and in which there is a human body invisible to the eye. The work of that sterling artist, Henry B. Walthall, is said to stand out also in his portrayal of the inventive genius who, betrayed by those he loved best, returns after seven years in prison, to take a weird vengeance on them. Supporting him are such well known players as Alice Lake, Stuart Holmes, Ethel Grey Terry, Helen Ferguson, James Morrison, Frankie Lee and Mike Donlin.

The story opens with Peter Marchmont in prison, where he learns from the man in the cell next to his, that it was his own wife and her lover who betrayed him, stole all he possessed and sent him to prison. After his term expired, unrecognized now as his former self, Peter Marchmont returns and through the medium of the purple ray he has discovered, makes himself invisible at will and begins to undermine the existence of his former wife and her husband, the two who betrayed him. Through a series of uncanny, thrilling happenings he brings the man

STEAMER PROCEEDS UNDER OWN POWER

MANILA, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—The steamer Stanley, whose engines broke down several days ago while she was off the island of Palawan, is proceeding to Hoilo under her own power, said a wireless message picked up here today. It is believed repairs will be possible at Hoilo, the message said.

The Stanley was bound from Shanghai for Europe with general cargo.

LONDON SHOWS LOVE FOR MARIE TEMPEST

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—London critics are hailing with acclaim the return of Marie Tempest to musical comedy after an absence of 25 years in straight comedy roles. Her recent appearance in a comedy-fantasy occasioned an ovation on her every entry, and after the close of the last act Miss Tempest was kept on the stage for 15 minutes while the audience, English audiences are the most conservative in the world, expressed its appreciation by a gale of handclapping, gasps and shouting.

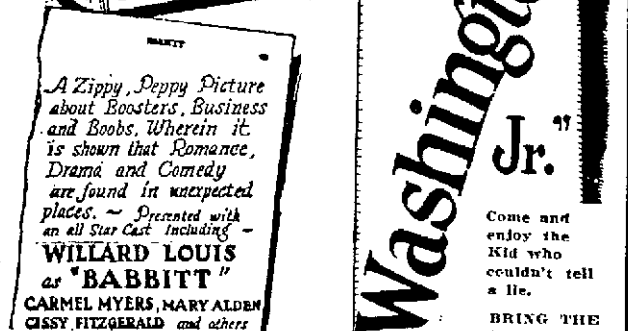

So overcome was Miss Tempest at her reception that once, during the second act, she completely forgot her lines, and was forced to improvise for several minutes, she confessed at the close of the evening. London critics said that the enthusiasm with which she was hailed was memorable.

Miss Tempest who is 53 years old first appeared on the stage in "Boccaccio," in 1885.

WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY It does not seem that ten years have elapsed since the opening of the World war, but such is the case. During the progress of that titanic struggle, the world underwent more changes perhaps than ever before within a similar period.

Germany, the chief agent in precipitating this world conflict, was finally defeated through the assistance rendered by the United States. Had we not entered the war, Germany would probably have been able to force a compromise peace.

It is hoped, however, that the Dawes plan of settlement recommended by an American committee, will eventually be adopted and establish a clear understanding among the nations as to the obligations imposed upon Germany.

Had not Clemenceau insisted on making the treaty of peace without invading Germany, General Foch might have gone to Berlin, in which case the terms of peace would have been definitely settled before evacuation.

LABOR AND LA FOLLETTE

In the present three cornered political fight, it is well that the electorate should have clear ideas as to some of the fundamental principles involved. One of the plainest facts in the situation is, that a great movement is on foot over a large part of this country, with the specific aim of delivering organized labor, and particularly railroad labor, into an alliance with socialism under the standard of Senator La Follette.

Socialistic leaders are foremost in the La Follette camp and in conducting his campaign. Some time ago, he announced that he did not want the support of such radicals; but that was only to disguise his real motives.

La Follette also favors a change in the constitution of the United States under which the supreme court would be subordinate to congress. That would mark the downfall of popular liberty in this country, as congress could at any time, wipe out any provision of the constitution whether in reference to federal or state government, as it might see fit to determine.

Let it be understood, that no party which is supported by Morris Hilquit and Victor Berger, should be supported by any honest democrat or republican, or any patriotic citizen who stands for upbuilding the constitution of the United States.

THE KLAN RIOTS

It seems that the members of the Ku Klux Klan who were involved in the riots at Lancaster and Haverhill were armed with shotguns. Investigation by the state commissioner of public safety shows that over 12,000 permits to carry arms have been granted this year. It is presumed that most of these were granted to members of the Klan.

When, therefore, the Klan brings together an assembly in an open field to carry out its ceremonies, it appears that it is guarded by a line of men armed with shotguns. At least that is the arrangement at Lancaster and Haverhill where riots occurred. It is easy to see how held and defiant armed men will be with a rather disorderly crowd of spectators. It is easy to imagine, also, that men so armed will start a riot on the slightest pretext, just as a man who carries a revolver may use it even on the plea of self-defense without any justification.

This form of armed assembly is a menace to the public peace and should be prevented. We are glad to note that the state department of public safety will not tolerate public assemblies of armed men.

On the other hand, the people who have nothing to do with the Klan should keep away from them. The order is a mushroom growth started for political effect and if let alone, it will soon die out, just as did its prototype, the A.P.A., and earlier incarnations of a similar kind. Therefore, we say, let the devoted Klansmen alone, and when they find they are merely bumping their heads against the stone wall of religious freedom, they will soon desist. Such moderate die or abstention and are usually made up of ringleaders who are imposed upon by demagogic leaders.

COAL SHORTAGE PREDICTED

Many coal operators, producers and distributors of anthracite, declare in positive fashion that customers who do not order their full supplies of coal at once may be unable to obtain enough to "carry" them through the winter months to come.

A not unusual feature of the present situation, whether it is actually serious or not, is the absolute indifference of the buying public. Coal merchants do not report any heavy summer "stocking up" or renewed buying, even with warnings being issued almost daily by coal merchants as well as vigilant members of committees on the necessities of life.

There is little encouragement to be found in the ear service division report, coming from the American Railway association which, on Monday of this week, called attention to the fact that the railroads now have nearly 170,000 surplus coal cars in good repair and immediately available for

OUR POPULATION

America's population is gaining at the rate of one and three-quarter millions a year. That has been the rate of increase since the 1920 census.

It is not expected that the British objection to our plan of elevation of naval guns will reach any serious crisis. It is understood that the clause of the treaty in reference thereto is open to different interpretations and, therefore, the matter can probably be settled readily by Secretary Hughes, who is now in Europe in a non-official capacity.

It is now assured that our new district court building will be quite attractive and that it will have ample accommodation for all the court functions to be carried on there. The one query yet unanswered is, When will it be finished?

Children at play should be reminded that there are certain places where they should not pedal their noise. One is in the vicinity of a hospital or wherever people are sick.

Wasn't Disappointed

While preaching one Sunday the vicar seemed very attracted. His eyes were continually straying toward a small window by his side. Quite suddenly he surprised his congregation by exclaiming "I thought so." On leaving the church after the service, an old parishioner asked him the meaning of his words and absent-mindedness. The vicar replied: "While I was preaching I was looking out of the window at an old woman who was pulling a cabbage. All I could think was, 'When that cabbage comes up, over you'll go. And I was right.'"

Circumstantial Evidence

Friend of the Oppressed

A sailor on leave was strolling in the country when he saw, for the first time in his life, two men working with a two-handed crosscut saw. He stood for about a quarter of an hour watching the two men, one of whom was very tall, while the other was short. At last he made a sudden spring and dealt the taller man a blow in the face. "What—what's this?" stammered the big man. "You big coward!" cried the sailor. "I've been watching you for the last quarter of an hour trying to take that saw from the little fellow!"—Minneapolis Tribune.

Anxious Moments

"By the way," said the man who had stopped at an English farmhouse to water his horse, "15 years ago a poor boy came this way and you took him in." "Yes," queried the farmer, somewhat surprised. "You were kind to him," went on the stranger. "You fed him, gave him a room to sleep in, and an old suit of clothes, put half a crown in his pocket and sent him on his way rejoicing. He told you at the time that you could never regret your kindness. Am I right?" "Yes," replied the farmer. "He said that if he prospered he would see you again." "I have," said the stranger, "and he sent me messengers to you." "What is it?" they both asked, expectantly. "He told me to tell you that he is still poor."

The Coming of the Birds

On that far day when time itself was new, And all the world was rainbow-starred with dew, The birds were fashioned with the tenderest care, Then loosed to fly upon the sunlit air. And some were golden plumage, some were scarlet, some were blue, and some were grey. Others dashed past on pinions silver bright, Brown-headed were some, there sped a ruby crest, And nearer one with heaven on its breast. High—and more high—the happy minstrel soared, Song heaving upon song in true accord. Up to the walls of Paradise they went, Where angels crowded, mute with wonderment. To watch the shining hosts go circling by. Then, suddenly, through the music rang a cry. And on the moment every sound was still. Save for a little angel's voice, Joy-filled. "Look, my brothers, oh! what beautiful things. Are these dear thoughts of God that come on wings?" —IMMOGEN CLARK.

"Say it with ukulele" is the latest fad. Boys and girls, young and old, now going on their vacations do not regard their equipment as complete unless a "uke" is carried along. George Pearson, vault custodian at city hall for the election commission, sportsman, fisherman, deer tracker and agriculturist, comes to bat with a suggestion that he swears will knock corn hoppers for a row of withered apple trees. "I've got it," says George. "Yes, sir, I've got it." And here is what George says will kill borers faster than they can bore. Take a shaker, about the size of a good-sized salt shaker, fill it with powdered borax and shake it on the tips of the corn tassels. That's all except taps for the borers. It borer them, they do not hanker after it. At all, at all, and they just naturally get a whiff of the borax, tumble off the tassels and die. We do not dare say how long it might take a man to thus travel over a corn patch of several acres, but if the corn really is effective, it would be time well spent. For writing this article, George has promised to let us look at the next mass of fish he and George Bean bring in from the Grand Banks. That's a hot one!

Residents and business men of Centralville will be pleased to learn that one of the main arteries which are to be equipped with type B white lights is Bridge street. Years ago an attempt was made to get the white lights known as type A on the business section of this street, and since the Central bridge was equipped with type B white lights there has been considerable talk of petitioning the city to put similar lights at least as far as Sixth street, for persons going towards Centralville in the evening seemingly plunge into darkness after leaving the brilliantly lighted bridge and setting into the section of Bridge street where the stores are located. Without doubt that was not good for business and the business men especially will be pleased with the announcement that the street is to be moderately lighted before the first of next year.

QUARTER CENTURY AGO

A well attended patriotic meet under the auspices of Tewksbury Grange was held 25 years ago in the Grange hall, Tewksbury. A fine program of readings, vocal selections and recitations was given by members of the various granges attending. Among the interesting topics treated were: "What shall we do with the Philippines?" and "Our Spanish War; could it have been avoided?" An interesting paper on "History of Progress" was also read.

Day Nursery Picnic

The fifth annual picnic of the Day Nursery was held 25 years ago on the grounds of Col. Dimon in the Oaklands. Nearly 2000 children were present and a merry time was enjoyed. Thirty swings and eighteen hammocks were placed at the children's disposal while police officials and paid attendants kept a watchful eye on the youngsters that none might be injured. A program of sports including baseball, running matches and eating contests, for boys, was carried out. The girls also had a fine program. The Lowell Billitary band, James A. Murphy, leader, furnished the music during the day. The D. L. Page company served luncheon and also provided sweets and ice cream for the kiddies. In the evening a light lunch was served following which a band concert and short entertainment were enjoyed.

Veteran Picnic

A grand competition in which local veteran fishermen participated was held in Peppercell 25 years ago. Lowell had two tubs in the contest. Despite the fact that both devices were disabled, the local men captured third prize. The Butlers, who were the favorites, were badly beaten, their tub going to pieces. The Warrens of Peppercell were also popular and their work was highly commended by spectators. The Vixen of this city attained a "snipe" of 218 feet 13 inches, while the Warrens of Peppercell won first money with a distance of 288 feet 3 1/2 inches. The judges of the contest were Chief George Cushing, C. H. Grant, Dist. Chief Cooper, P. H. Hoadley, Edward Flintry and Chief P. D. Stevens of Peppercell.

Noted Singer Died

Mrs. Catherine Quinn, one of Lowell's oldest and highly respected residents, died 25 years ago after a brief illness. She had seen the city grow from a village to a municipality, and at the time St. Peter's church was built, Mrs. Quinn was one of the first to join the choir. In later years, together with her late husband, John Quinn, she loyally supported the religious work of the parish.

Cool Summer

On August 2, 1899, it was reported that up to that time the summer had been the coolest ever known locally. Robert C. Paradis, reporter for the Courier-Citizen, was visiting his parents in Cornwall, Ontario.

Back From the Klondike

Mr. Adolpho Dellino, well known local druggist, returned to this city 25 years after spending two years in the Klondike. He left Dawson City July 8, arriving here July 31. Mr. Dellino reported that his trip had been most pleasant and that he had enjoyed it. He brought home with him a small bag of nuggets, and taking all in all he said he was glad he had visited the Klondike region.

Miss Ophelia McPherson, formerly of this city, and G. Kitching of West Palm, Fla., were married July 28, 1899, in the latter city.

Sumner Williams and Miss Louise Shepherd were married in Nashua, N. H., on July 30, 1899.

Miss Ophelia McPherson and Miss Mary Flours, both residents of this city, were married at St. Jean Baptiste church, July 23, 1899, by Rev. J. Gagnon, O.M.I.

Mr. Slattery's Test of Intelligence

The old Sun had a very interesting article dealing with the public reading room at the city library at that time under the supervision of Mr. E. P. Slattery. Mr. Slattery told an interesting story of the number of men, young and old, who made a practice of visiting the reading room daily and pouring over the leading newspapers including those of the Boston, Lowell, Worcester and Providence. As a rule they spent about an hour in perusal of their favorite newspapers and were thus well informed upon the news of the day and the editorial views of the leading newspapers of the east. Mr. Slattery judged of the intelligence of the readers visiting the room, by noting the amount of attention they gave to the editorial columns of the newspapers which he regarded as of even more importance than the news of the day.

To Oust Mule Spinners

Arant Southwick of the Massachusetts mills announced his intention of introducing a large number of spinning frames to take the place of the mule spinners who had grown so numerous in Lowell. The plan was to manufacture the frames that was the beginning of a movement to do away with mule spinning.

THE OLD TIMER.

SONNET To one who has been long in city pent, 'Tis very sweet to look into the fair And open face of heaven—to breathe a prayer Full in the smile of the blue firmament. Who is more happy, when, with heart content, Fatigued he sinks into some pleasant lair Of wavy grass, and reads a debonair And gentle tale of love and languishment? Returning home at evening, with an ear Catching the notes of Philomel—an eye Watching the sailing cloudlet's bright career. He mourns that day so soon has glided by: 'Tis like the passage of an angel's tear That falls through the clear ether silently. —John Keats.

Budgeting Hal Cockburn's DAILY POEM "Say, where in the dence does our money all go?" What couples have never asked that? The answer is something they feel they should know or they ne'er can tell just where they're at. 'Tis the hane of her life to the dear little wife because the worries 'bout money don't end. So her male fondly kisses the worrying missus and says, "We'll mark down what we spend." A book just for budgeting's purchased that day. There are pages for every expense. At last they've discovered a neat little way to schedule their dollars and cents. They sit by the table, a budgeting bent, till both of them near fall asleep. They'll keep perfect figures on what they have spent and they won't have to read 'em and weep. "Oh, golly," says she, "think how happy we'll be, for this budget will blot out our sorrow." The mister agrees but he says, "If you please, let us start on the budget tomorrow." Tommorrow may come and tommorrow may go, and today, if you'll take a close look, the only real mark that the pages will show is the price that they paid for the book. (Copyright, 1924. DAVIS IN WASHINGTON IRISH TREATY CHANGES

Will Return to New York Doubt Influence of Ulster For Another Conference With Free Staters—For Week-End Conference With Shaver Tomorrow

LOCUST VALLEY, N. Y., Aug. 2.—In the seclusion of his home here on Long Island, John W. Davis, pressed forward today to the completion of the address he is to deliver in his home town of Clarkstown, Pa., next Monday in accepting the democratic presidential nomination.

He had before him merely a process of revision, the bulk of the work having been accomplished during his week in Maine. He expected to place the final draft in the hands of the printers tonight and was to clear the way for the devotion of his time early next week to the perfection of his campaign organization in consultation with Clem L. Shaver, his campaign manager and other advisers.

In connection with organizational matters but will return to New York tomorrow. He will accompany Mrs. Davis to Clarkstown for the notification ceremonies and from there he will go to Chicago to arrange for the opening of western headquarters. Later he will proceed to Lincoln, Neb., to be present when Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, is formally notified on August 13 of his nomination as the democratic vice presidential candidate.

WILL DISCUSS NEED OF SCHOOL BUILDING

On Monday evening next, in adjourned town meeting, voters of Tewksbury will renew discussion relative to the need of a new school building. A lively meeting is looked for. Chairman H. M. Billings, of the committee appointed at last town meeting to investigate the town's need for a new school building or additions and alterations to the old Foster school, is to present his report which will include recommendations. The other members of the committee handling the subject in survey and recommendation, include Benjamin Spaulding, Franklin Spaulding, H. A. Page, Hector Jackson, Arthur Foster and Mrs. H. M. Larabee.

Yankees Win, Bambino Banished, Bush Would Fight in St. Louis Game

RUTH OUT OF GAME FOR ARGUING WITH UMPIRE ROWLAND

Close Decision Angers Star and Ump Gives Him the Bench—Bush Would Climb Into Grandstand After Nagging Fan—Shocker Loses Close One

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The Yankees are still in the lead for the American league pennant as the result of their victory over the St. Louis club yesterday when they took Urban Shocker into camp to the tune of 3-2. In the third game of the series, the Yankees were the first to score, sending a run across the second and putting two more men over the plate in the fifth. The Browns came back strong in the eighth inning, with two tallies, but could not produce the tying run. Babe Ruth and Joe Bush of the Yankees both had arguments with the St. Louis umpire, but the preventing Bush from climbing into the grandstand in an effort to reach a fan who had incensed him. Ruth was put out of the game in the ninth inning, when he took issue with Umpire Rowland over a close decision. The Senators won their third successive victory over Detroit, winning by the score of 7-3. They are just half a game back of the leading Yankees and are making a red hot race of it. Washington bunched eight of its hits off Wells in the first three innings for five runs and scored two more in the fifth on a hit and an error. All of the Senators' runs were scored in the second on four hits, three of them being for extra bases.

Beating Cleveland in a close pitcher's battle, 2 to 1, Philadelphia evened the series. The Athletics won in the eighth when they scored twice on a run to Bishop and singles by Lullar, Miller and Simmons. Rommel was effective, though wild at times.

Chicago made it three straight over Boston, Faber getting the decision from Ferguson in a pitchers' battle. Ferguson allowed one less hit than Faber, who was more effective in the pitcher's box, winning by 2 to 1. In the National league the Pirates' winning streak came to an end when the Cincinnati Reds beat them in the third game of the series by the close margin of two runs, winning, 3 to 1. The Giants are now leading their league by seven full games. Chicago losing ground when the Dodgers beat them 4 to 6, Vance winning his seventh game of the season. The Brooklyn twirler tied the record for consecutive strike outs, whiffing seven in a row and came within two of the major league record by fanning 14 batters in nine innings. The Brooklyn team scored a full game on both Chicago and Pittsburgh in the club standing.

In a fifteen-inning pitchers' duel between Boston of Boston and Rixey of Cincinnati Boston was returned the victor by a 3 to 2 score, making two straight for the Braves over the Cincinnati club.

The Philadelphia-St. Louis game at Philadelphia was postponed on account of rain.

BROTHER OF "STUFFY" IS NEW MANAGER
MANCHESTER, N. H., Aug. 2.—"Al" McIntosh, having been Gloucester, Mass., and proud brother of "Stuffy" was made manager of the Manchester team of the Central league in place of Johnny Mitchell, former Somerville High School star.

"Al" follows in the footsteps of his prominent brother, inasmuch as he plays the first base in this city, the most popular player on the club.

ABBOT WORSTEDS AND CLEVELAND GIANTS
The Abbot Worsteds and the Cleveland Giants were the baseball attraction at Alumni field this afternoon. Tomorrow afternoon in Graniteville, Abbot will line up against the Everetts, town team, and a fast game is anticipated. However, while not up among the leaders in the league averages, is composed of a nifty bunch of ball players and have managed to give the Abbot a few close games this year. Lowell fans, bent on seeing the Abbot's cop the Greater Boston Two League pennant, will surely want to take in this game. The greatest ball club in this territory at this writing is the Abbot Worsteds, the team having justified that claim by its consistent winning performances to date. The Sunday game will start at 3 o'clock.

ROOKIE TWIRLER NAILED LETTERS BOOSTING HIS STOCK
Don't wait for them to come after you. Go after them. That is the motto of George Earle Miltstead, a young pitcher who is making good with the Chicago Cubs. George Earle once over down in his Texas diggings. So George Earle sat down and wrote letters to all the big league club owners. "You're overlooking a guy who is good enough to pitch in any league." In words to that effect he wrote. Bill Veck of the Cubs was interested and sent for him. "He's the best mail-order pitcher I ever saw," comments Veck.

SET NEW COURSE MARK
Scared Rabbit Had Nothing On Half-Miler When His Belt Slipped

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 2.—You read recently where Zeppers of Holland was forced to drop out of the Olympic steeplechase because his belt broke and his running trunks began to desert him.

This recalls the experience of Glenn Kreider, Ohio state miler, who made big Ten history during the past season.

Three years ago Kreider, then a rookie, started in the half-mile against Indiana. Just after the start his belt broke. Kreider made a swoop downward and seized the trailing pants with his right hand, and the track and away from the crowd, and this with all possible speed.

Kreider put on extra steam. The crowd realized his predicament and laughed. Kreider put on still more steam. The crowd laughed all the harder.

Kreider came thundering down the stretch holding his pants with one hand. He broadened the tape yards ahead of his field and kept right on through the stadium gate and into the gymnasium without once breaking his stride.

Half an hour later he learned he had set a new record for the event and had qualified as a regular.

AUSTRALIAN TENNIS TEAM BEATS CHINA
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The Australian Davis cup team took the third and deciding match against China on the courts of the Crescent A.C. in Brooklyn yesterday. Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara won defeated the Chinese doubles team of W. Lock Wei and C. K. Huang, 6-1, 6-2, 6-0.

The two Australian stars, Norman D. Brook and Richard Schlesinger of the Australian Davis cup team, will oppose Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter, winners of the Olympic doubles title, in a match here today.

WONDERFUL BALL GAME
You Can Tell All About it By Lamping the Score—Read it and Weep

The worm did a flip-top last night, a regular 180-degree turn, when The Sun baseball team, fighting for a right to exist, threw off the blanket of restraint and to the tune of innumerable bangs hit the L'Etelle ship of state at Alumni field by the score of 27 to 0.

The game went seven innings by agreement, but long before that L'Etelle players were willing to call it a day. The barrage was too consistent, too heart-breaking, too shockingly continuous and Abbot Worsteds and first was struck, then choked, and best shoos rattle off the three fences and travel out to the vast, unpopulated spaces while Sun base runners clattered over the rubber.

Four innings Tom McSorley waved the kaleidoscope brush over L'Etelle with sweeping strokes, but with a lead the Yankees couldn't have overcome, he let up and in the last three innings, bases on balls and a hit or two, the Yankees had a dozen runs.

L'Etelle players said they need more practice and a little esprit de corps. That's all right with us. But as to last night's game, que voulez-vous, de mieux?

Yankee Stadium to Be Scene of Battle Aug. 20.—Welter Title at Stake
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The fight for the welterweight championship between Lennox Leonard, world's lightweight champion, and Mickey Walker, holder of the welter crown will take place on the night of Aug. 20 at the Yankee stadium. The men are 15 pounds to a decision. In the event of a draw, the fight will be held two nights later at the stadium.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE GAME

Centralville Princetons Defeat Hogan's Centrals on South Common

It was the last inning. There was a man on third with the winding run and one out. And Nelson Legrand was at the bat. With this perfect setting Mike Gibbons, pitching for Hogan's Centrals in a Lowell Twilight league game on the South common last evening, lobbed one over the run and Legrand sent the sphere flying into center field for a pretty single, scoring the runner on third and enabling the Centralville Princetons to gain a 4 to 1 verdict over their extended rivals.

Gibbons was pitching his first full game since he sprained his ankle in a high school contest last May. He was touched up sparsely by the Princetons, only five hits being garnered off his delivery, but the Yankees came at an opportune time and scored runs. Gus McKenzie did the twirling honors for the winners and while he was asked for a decade of sacrifices, he tightened in the pitcher's box and came through with flying colors.

The Princetons took an early lead, scoring once in the opening frame and twice in the third. The Centrals' pitchers were chalked up in the fifth and sixth stanzas. The game was tied in the last inning on an even 3-3 basis.

After Jimmy Cawley had been retired, Noel drew a free ticket and went around to third when the catcher threw wild in an attempt to nab him. The runner came around and scored with his telling blow into center and it was all over. The score:

The worm did a flip-top last night, a regular 180-degree turn, when The Sun baseball team, fighting for a right to exist, threw off the blanket of restraint and to the tune of innumerable bangs hit the L'Etelle ship of state at Alumni field by the score of 27 to 0.

The game went seven innings by agreement, but long before that L'Etelle players were willing to call it a day. The barrage was too consistent, too heart-breaking, too shockingly continuous and Abbot Worsteds and first was struck, then choked, and best shoos rattle off the three fences and travel out to the vast, unpopulated spaces while Sun base runners clattered over the rubber.

Four innings Tom McSorley waved the kaleidoscope brush over L'Etelle with sweeping strokes, but with a lead the Yankees couldn't have overcome, he let up and in the last three innings, bases on balls and a hit or two, the Yankees had a dozen runs.

L'Etelle players said they need more practice and a little esprit de corps. That's all right with us. But as to last night's game, que voulez-vous, de mieux?

Yankee Stadium to Be Scene of Battle Aug. 20.—Welter Title at Stake
NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—The fight for the welterweight championship between Lennox Leonard, world's lightweight champion, and Mickey Walker, holder of the welter crown will take place on the night of Aug. 20 at the Yankee stadium. The men are 15 pounds to a decision. In the event of a draw, the fight will be held two nights later at the stadium.

Jimmy Johnston, the matchmaker of the Yankee stadium, will promote the match. Lennox Leonard, who has been the best welterweight in the world since he won the title at Jersey City.

Keep his contract in hand. Tommy O'Brien at the Queensboro A.C. last Monday night appeared before the commission and pleaded illness. The commission ruled that he cannot box until he is examined and passes as a. k. by a commission doctor.

The commission exonerated the boxer, Ray Neuman, who recently fought Jeff Smith in a bout, Neuman having been clean up to that time.

NEW HOME RUN RECORD LIKELY IF RUTH CONTINUES PACE

Centralville Princetons Defeat Hogan's Centrals on South Common

It was the last inning. There was a man on third with the winding run and one out. And Nelson Legrand was at the bat. With this perfect setting Mike Gibbons, pitching for Hogan's Centrals in a Lowell Twilight league game on the South common last evening, lobbed one over the run and Legrand sent the sphere flying into center field for a pretty single, scoring the runner on third and enabling the Centralville Princetons to gain a 4 to 1 verdict over their extended rivals.

Gibbons was pitching his first full game since he sprained his ankle in a high school contest last May. He was touched up sparsely by the Princetons, only five hits being garnered off his delivery, but the Yankees came at an opportune time and scored runs. Gus McKenzie did the twirling honors for the winners and while he was asked for a decade of sacrifices, he tightened in the pitcher's box and came through with flying colors.

The Princetons took an early lead, scoring once in the opening frame and twice in the third. The Centrals' pitchers were chalked up in the fifth and sixth stanzas. The game was tied in the last inning on an even 3-3 basis.

After Jimmy Cawley had been retired, Noel drew a free ticket and went around to third when the catcher threw wild in an attempt to nab him. The runner came around and scored with his telling blow into center and it was all over. The score:

A SPACE AND WASTE SAVING PLAN

Here is a straightforward plan that utilizes the space without waste and provides all desired conveniences. It is a story and one-half combining a Colonial front with an English roof in a small formal house. The house is planned to be erected of wood frame on masonry foundations, exterior finish wood shingles, wood siding or stucco for the walls, a shingle roof and wood frontpiece and trellis. The house can be placed on a 40 to 50 foot lot in width, depending on whether or not the porch is built. If the gable end is placed towards the street, it can be accommodated on a 30 foot lot in width, with the stoop at the side. A feature of the house is the flexibility of the porch, which can be omitted or placed to the rear of the living room, as desired. There are five main rooms, with bathroom and six closets. The living room runs from the front to the rear, and the stairway is in the center of the house. The house is planned to face north of west, and for other facings the plans should be reversed. There is a full basement under the main portion of the house, containing laundry, heating and fuel bins. Two bedrooms on the second floor have cross-ventilation, light and air. The kitchen will invite the housekeeper's interest. It is step saving, light and contains all the fixtures she can possibly need just where she wants them. Outside icing is provided. The fireplace in the living room not only is a feature, but it takes care of the heater and fireplace flues. This, of course, is an economical arrangement.

Consult Us Before You Build

A rent receipt is not much of an asset. It is the written permission of the landlord for the occupancy of a few square feet of floor space, for about thirty days,—after that it is valueless.

Why Not Build a Home and Be Your Own Landlord?

The interest on the investment, plus taxes and repairs, certainly would be less than the rent demanded for such a Home as you desire, or the landlord could not afford to invest his money in property to rent. On the other hand, the value of the feeling of ownership of a Home, a safe refuge for yourself and family, and a place to entertain your friends, cannot be estimated.

WINN SCIENCE MEDAL

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—This year's Leibniz silver medal of the Prussian Academy of Sciences has been awarded to Franklin Ida Molner, professor of physics at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Dahlen, near Berlin, in recognition of her researches on radium.

The iron (formerly golden) medal went to Franz von Mendelssohn, president of the German chamber of commerce, for frequent support given to scientific undertakings of various kinds.

AUTO PAINTING OF FIRST CLASS QUALITY

Every automobile owner with discriminating faculties, planning to have "the car" furnished up anew with good paint and varnish, wants to be sure of the man who takes the job and promises to do the work desired. Few house-painters would be called upon to do a first-class job on a high-grade automobile. Not every man handy with paint and brushes in other fields of the lead and oils where the profession of painters flourish and perform excellent work in their various lines, would be willing to tackle an automobile and enjoy the work. There is a "knack" about painting a motor car and making it look like a new purchase.

The arrow points to the corner of Moody and Pawtucket streets, directly to the large second floor quarters over the Moody Bridge garage. The name over the paint shop front is J. O. Leclerc, and he is the man you should see when you want that automobile covered with fresh paint and varnish as it should be covered.

The J. O. Leclerc auto and carriage painting establishment is too well known to receive praise in these columns. No welders of the paint brushes anywhere in New England can perform an auto or carriage painting job with any finer results than the busy Leclerc and his staff of expert artists in their line of endeavor.

When you want that car glossed up or dressed in some other shade, get in touch with the house Leclerc at Moody and Pawtucket streets. You will be glad that you received the tip when you want a genuine painting and varnishing job executed on that automobile or carriage. The telephone number is 4553-W.

AUTO BODY REPAIRS AT LOWEST PRICES

Removing dents from bodies and fenders of automobiles is not a passing vocation. It requires genius, understanding, experience and careful preparation for the handling of the job at hand.

Lowell Auto Body Repair company, located at a most convenient station at the corner of Pawtucket and Moody streets, is always the busiest. In fact, it is always the best.

Induced, there are few concerns that care to perform such work, preferring to let George do it. Only workmen of long experience and familiar with every kind of damage received by automobile bodies and fenders in road collisions or break-downs and roadside collapse of the body, and following driving on rough roads, can make the cars look like new.

First-class work is always the rule at the Lowell auto body repair concern's establishment, where lowest prices as well as finest workmanship in renovations prevail.

If you think that jammed-up fender on your favorite car cannot be made new, drive it to the establishment conducted by Prop. Wahl and have it looked over. You may save a lot of money by visiting Pawtucket and Moody streets and learning the truth.

Badly dented car bodies are also made over with expert attention to details, so that damaged appearances are removed and the construction shape retained and finished like new in every detail.

The business of the Lowell Auto Body Repair company has constantly expanded since its establishment not so very long ago. It is a good place to go whenever you get into a "jam" and dislike the appearance of those jammed fenders and dented car bodies. Cars will be sent for and delivered, if necessary.

By the wonderful autochrome plate, the joys of your summer garden can be preserved in all its beauties for winter enjoyment. Are results satisfactory always? That is promised and, of course, to be expected as well. Will Rounds produces rare photographs of garden and nature scenes in all their natural colors, many of which have been admired in numerous exhibition halls. They have more than once been called "the best yet seen in America."

The extensive gardens surrounding this studio, while principally existing for Mr. Rounds' personal pleasure, were planned and laid out for "pictures." That real "pictures" are produced that please, is best proven by displays seen at the studio or a sitting. There are arrangements especially adapted to ladies and children, allowing for more natural and picturesque results than the usual studio poses. Before summer goes, make an early appointment. The photophone is No. 2418.

LOWELL'S MODERN CLOTHES CLEANSERS

The business of cleaning clothes is fast becoming a specialty occupation—a very important one, in fact, in the world of clothing and its care and upkeep. Modern cleaning establishments perform an important part in keeping the people well dressed and comfortable. Modern cleaning is in the money-saving category, also, for men and women who take good care of their clothing. It is just as real as buying values and wearing qualities.

It pays to employ the services of a modern cleaning house that enters to those who want finest work performed at lowest prices. The Up-to-Date Cleaning and Dyeing company at 31 Moody street is widely known, carries on a large and steadily increasing business, and is ready at all times to convince would-be patrons that their cleaning, dyeing and clothes-pressing service cannot be equaled for excellence and prices commensurate with the work at hand.

Farmer's union of Kentucky now announces the extension of its chain store system and the development of new district warehouses to supply their merchandising combine ever organized toward development of a chain store system that would combat any monopolistic efforts of such a combination.

According to the All-American Co-operative commission, whose headquarters are in this city, co-operative chain stores will be established soon in various parts of the country.

In a number of agricultural states it is estimated to run well over the $2,000,000,000 mark.

BICYCLES STILL IN POPULAR DEMAND

The world of wheelmen today contains many more members than were listed a few years ago. The popularity of bicycling is greater than ever, notwithstanding the tremendous sales of new automobiles everywhere and the heavy increase in sales of motorcycles also. The popular house of George H. Bachelder, dealer in motorcycles and bicycles of the finest popular trade selections, finds business rushing as usual at the familiar business mart on Postoffice avenue.

The Bachelder concern's slogan "Ride a Bicycle," also means "Ride a Motorcycle," of course, if you prefer the latter. The demand for bicycles today is ever increasing. There are demands from young and old for two-wheeled vehicles of various types, selections and makes. Children's vehicles, sundries and supplies are always in stock for ready selection and prompt delivery. The bicycle department contains the famous Indian Crown, Hartford and Red Wing makes, and all bicycles offered for sale are displayed for customers' inspection. Call any time and look them over.

It is easy to ride a wheel—healthful—easy to pay for the wheel you buy. And accommodating Bachelder's always give service of the very best quality. The phone number is 1758. If you want to talk it over with the wide-awake salesman before calling—

Call a real taxi when you want to reach the railroad station, the club or the golf links on time. Remember the telephone number: "7096—the Lowell Town Taxi." You will be sure to get where you want to go if you remember that number. "Once used, always used."

Courteous drivers, comfortable cars with "seats that satisfy." No ultra-speeding—just prompt, non-jolting movement from one point to another and safety first guaranteed at all times by the careful, long-experienced drivers of the transportation plans operating under the familiar banners of the Lowell Town Taxi company.

Since the establishment of the headquarters and call station of the Lowell Town Taxi operation at 109 Middlesex street, the service has been greatly enlarged and more cars placed in service for Lowell and Middlesex county town patronage. The service is unqualifiedly the very best to be found in any city in New England.

Friends, gentlemen drivers, who are information bureaus in the bargain, always careful motor car handlers and long experienced in getting to destinations without delay or accidents, make the Lowell Town Taxi service what it is today. Day or night calls are answered with equal promptness and dispatch. The phone number is 7096.

GEN. PERSHING NEARS RETIREMENT DAY COLLECTOR HICKEY OF FALL RIVER DEAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—General Pershing returned today to his desk at the war department and resumed personal supervision of plans for the defense day demonstration of Sept. 12. He began also his last tour of duty as an officer on the active list of the army, as he will be retired automatically on his 64th birthday, Sept. 13.

It was suggested at the war department originally that the defense test be held on Sept. 13, as a compliment to the retiring chief of staff and general of the armies, General Pershing himself preferred, however, that the date be selected and the event be in the nature of a commemoration of the battle of St. Mihiel, which opened on that day, 1918.

"MYSTERY DEATH" DUE TO EXPOSURE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 1.—Viola Aiken, the three-year-old child whose body was found in a swamp in North Smithfield came to her death by drowning and exposure, according to report of Medical Examiner Robert Wilcox filed with the superior court here today. No fracture of the skull was found. The mother, Mrs. Viola Aiken, who has been held in default of $1500 bail in jail as a material witness, will be released tomorrow. Jas. Graham, who employed Mrs. Aiken as housekeeper and is being held as a witness, will also be released.

FIRST CARDS IN AT CANADIAN TOURNEY

MOUNT BRUNO, Que., Aug. 1.—When half the field of 129 players competing in the Canadian open golf championship had turned in their scores for the morning round of 18 holes, Johnny Farrell, Quaker Ridge club, Mamaroneck, N. Y., was best with a par 70, composed of two thirty-fives. Farrell went around with Gene Sawyer, Bangor, Me., who could do no better than a 75. Close on Farrell's heels were A. Kay, Lumberton, and Gil Nichols, New York, both 72. Other good scores were:

Henry Culet, White Plains, N. Y., 75; Seymour Layton, Toronto, 77; Redvers MacKenzie, Montreal, 77; T. McGrath, Chatham, 78; Fred Becker, White Plains, 79.

Frank Thompson, the Canadian amateur champion, shot a 74, while his partner, W. E. Mehlhorn of St. Louis, got into a place among the leaders with 72.

ALLEN MADE JUDGE BY N. Y. GOVERNOR

NEW YORK, August 1.—Appointment of William Allen, chairman of the Tammany Hall executive committee, to succeed George W. Olney of the court of general sessions bench, was announced today by Governor Smith.

FALL RIVER, August 1.—John T. Hickey, divisional deputy collector of internal revenue, died this afternoon at a local hospital, where he has been confined for the past two weeks. Deceased had been ill since early in June. A native of this city, he was head of the internal revenue office at New Bedford before a division of territory placed him in charge of the local office in 1918.

PRIME MINISTER PROBES STRIKE

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 1.—Upon receipt of a message from Alfred Price, leader of 4000 strikers, who had been employed on the Humbermouth power project, which said the men would destroy the plant of the Newfoundland Paper and Power company unless the premier personally investigated their demands, Prime Minister Monroee of Newfoundland today prepared to go immediately to Cornerbrook, the seat of the trouble.

The strikers asked a 10 per cent wage increase. Price told the premier that they expected the government to feed them after today.

At the request of the government, Admiral Ferguson, now in port here on the flagship Calcutta of his squadron of the British fleet, has ordered a warship which has been at Prince Edward Island to proceed immediately to the scene of the strike.

GLOUCESTER Y. C. WIPED BY FIRE

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 1.—The Annisquam Yacht clubhouse and annex were destroyed by fire today. The flames started from the explosion of an oil stove in the main building and spread quickly. Stewards who were the only persons in the buildings at the time escaped unhurt. The loss was about $15,000.

STUDENT DENIES STEALING AUTO

NORTHAMPTON, Aug. 1.—William G. Clark, colored, a former student at M. A. C., who was brought back here from Troy, N. Three Planes Off for Iceland Enveloped in Heavy Fog Lose Sight of Each Other

The United States round-the-world aviators hopped off this morning from Kirkwall, the Orkneys islands, for Iceland. After 35 miles of travel they encountered heavy fogs which made those in the three planes lose sight of each other. Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, flight commander, and one other plane put back.

The plane containing Lieuts. Nelson and Harding, out of communication with the others, is believed to have continued in flight through the heavy fog. A plane was sighted flying low over the Faroe islands shortly after noon and the cruiser Richmond believes the ship sighted was the missing birdmen.

Nearly 16,000 in State Have Firearms Permits — 563 Allowed in Lawrence

BOSTON, August 2.—Figures compiled last night at the office of Brigadier-General Alfred P. Foote, commissioner of public safety, revealed that 15,991 residents of Massachusetts hold active permits to carry firearms, according to the totals turned in so far by district authorities.

Boston leads the list with 3684 permits. Springfield has 714. Lawrence has 562, Cambridge 435, Lynn 352, Worcester 261 and Lowell 57, while the town of Methuen has 150. Lancaster and Groveland, where the two big Klan riots were staged, have 20 each. And Spencer, where the state police patrol snipped a prospective riot at the start, has 43.

Among the towns without a gun-toting citizen are Barre, Becket, Chilmark, Provincetown, Day Head, Deerfield, East Brookfield, Edgartown, Essex, Enfield, Franklin, Hinsdale, Leominster, North Andover, Paxton, Nantucket, Palmer, Rowley, Stoughton, Truro and West Stockbridge.

TO SELL 600 PARCELS OF PROPERTY FOR TAXES

The city treasurer announced today that 600 parcels of real estate will be advertised for sale for unpaid 1923 real estate taxes, water assessments and sewer assessments next Monday. This number is twice as large as last year's and is believed to be a record. The reason for the extraordinarily large number of unpaid real estate taxes is believed to be the continued period of slack work in the city's industries which makes it almost impossible for large numbers of real estate owners to support themselves, not to mention the payment of taxes and other annual bills.

REDUCTION IN PAYROLL

Immediate Reduction at Chelmsford Street Hospital Ordered by Mayor

Immediate reduction in the payroll of the Chelmsford street hospital if such payrolls are to be approved, is demanded by the mayor today in a letter to John J. O'Connell, superintendent of charities.

In the letter the superintendent is held directly responsible for an "alarming increase" in the hospital payrolls and is told that unless he is in a position to "justify by substantial reasons such largely increased payrolls, immediate reductions must be made."

The superintendent of charities is also requested to answer if the various subdivisions of the department will finish the year within the original appropriations and if not, he is requested to furnish an estimate of supplementary appropriation required. He is further asked, if he must have an additional appropriation, to send a detailed statement showing clearly why the original appropriations are insufficient.

LIQUOR REACHES HERE FROM SUBMARINE

BOSTON, Aug. 2.—United States Attorney General Robert O. Harris today had a report that a submarine had landed a cargo of liquors in Buzzards bay, somewhere in the vicinity of Nantuxet. He said his informant told him the cargo consisted of Cognac, brandy and French champagne. The word was passed along to investigating officials but they said the information was too meagre to permit of investigation. Mr. Harris and other officials here said they were inclined to doubt the truth of the report.

SAYS U. S. CROWDING MUCH TOO FAST

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 2.—There won't be standing room in the United States ten thousand years from now if the present rate of increase in the population continues," said Prof. Henry V. Fritchard of New York University in opening a round table conference on population and related problems at the Institute of Politics today.

This sounded rather remote to one of the institute members and when he was asked to bring the situation a little nearer home he chopped off a few thousand years. By the end of this century, he explained, at the rate of increase in the years immediately preceding the World war this country would have one-third again more people than China has now, with one-fourth less land.

By the middle of the next century the population of the United States would equal that of the whole world today.

At a round-table discussion of China, John V. A. McNamara, of the state department, said that China's difficulties in international affairs were due to the fact that the country never had developed a positive system of law or an articulated system of government.

IMBRIE BODY WILL BE BROUGHT HOME

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The body of Vice Consul Robert Imbrie, killed by a native mob at Terehnan, Persia, will be brought to the United States by the cruiser Trenton with appropriate military honors. The arrangement was made by the state department after the Persian government had agreed to pay all expenses of the voyage of the American war vessel from that country to Washington.

Second Occurrence for Victim Within Year—Brother Was Murder Victim

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Joseph Santucci, known in the ring as Bobby Doyle, was wounded last night by gunmen for the second time within a year. His brother, Terry, was shot and killed by an unknown assassin two years ago and the police said the remaining brother was intended to be the victim of a similar murder plot.

Santucci and a friend were standing beneath an elevated railway station in the Bronx when an automobile with six or seven passengers approached. Several of the occupants of the car opened fire and Santucci was wounded in the right arm. He was shot in the same arm before.

SCHOOL BOARD SIGNS PAY VOUCHER

The pay voucher covering Supt. of Schools Hugh J. Molloy's salary for the past month, part of which is figured at the rate of $6000, as voted by a majority of the school committee at its last meeting, was presented to the city auditor today with the signatures of a majority of the committee.

The members signing the voucher are Mrs. Gardner W. Pearson, James Riley, Donald Cameron and John H. Preston, all of whom voted for the increase at the last meeting. Thomas B. Delaney, who voted for the increase and immediately moved reconsideration at the next regular meeting, refused to sign the voucher.

The pay voucher was submitted to the mayor early this week and he refused to sign it. The following day an attempt was made to secure the signatures of a majority of the board but this failed. Mrs. Pearson being reported out of town. Her signature was secured today.

The city auditor did not receive the voucher until it was too late to call a meeting of the budget and auditing commission, which must approve the amount before it goes to the mayor for final approval, but will call a meeting for next Monday.

While no reason has been given for the mayor's refusal to sign the voucher, it is believed to be due to Mr. Delaney's motion to reconsider the vote which provided for the increase. Some members of the committee, basing their conclusion on the committee rules, believe Mr. Delaney's motion to have been out of order while others believe the vote will have to be considered at the next regular meeting of the board.

IRISH BOUNDARY SNARL DISCUSSED

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—The conference today between Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State, for the purpose of finding a solution to the Irish boundary problem, produced no results, it is understood.

The government, it is expected, will proceed with its plan to introduce a bill, which would sanction the formation of the boundary commission without the participation of Ulster.

Purchasing Agent Donnelly Awards Big Contract to Prince-McCann Co.

Awards Are in Line With Recommendations of Fire Chief Saunders

Prince-McCann company of this city, agents for White fire apparatus, were awarded a contract today by the purchasing agent for three triple-combination pumping engines and one tractor-drawn air-operated aerial ladder truck. The amount involved in the contract is $47,500, plus a 3 per cent war tax.

The award was made on the recommendation of Fire Chief Edward F. Saunders and on condition that the apparatus must meet with the approval of the New England board of fire underwriters.

Bids for the apparatus were called for over a month ago and opened three weeks ago by the purchasing agent. There were numerous bids submitted, some higher and some lower than the Prince-McCann bid.

While the award of the contract was being held up, a demonstration of a spring hoist aerial ladder was given by agents of the American LaFrance Co. in this city and officials who viewed the demonstration were well pleased with it. The fire chief, however, desired air-hoist rather than a spring-hoist equipment and with the mayor and purchasing agent attended a demonstration of a White-tractor-drawn air-operated aerial ladder in Lynn and another air-hoist equipped aerial in New Bedford.

The bid submitted by the Prince-McCann company quotes a price of $10,500, plus a 3 per cent tax, for each of three White triple-combination pumping engines, and $16,000, plus a similar tax, for the air-hoist aerial ladder with White tractor.

The agitation for modernization of the city's fire apparatus came to a head immediately after the Associate building fire. The public safety committee, the fire chief and the mayor immediately took steps to remedy the condition and, within a short while, authorization was asked for a $75,000 loan order to cover the expense. After the necessary procedure had been gone through, authorization was granted and bids called for apparatus such as Chief Saunders deemed necessary at the time.

With the award of this contract, the city has provided for the fire department this year five triple combination pumping engines, one city service wagon, and one aerial ladder truck. It is believed this apparatus will make it possible to do away with all horse drawn apparatus and make Lowell's apparatus entirely motor-equipped.

MADE BANK TREASURER

Joseph A. N. Chretien Elected Head of Notre Dame de Lourdes Credit Union

Joseph A. N. Chretien, city councillor from ward 6 and for the past 13 years identified with the A. G. Pollard Co. as floor supervisor and buyer, last night was elected treasurer of the Notre Dame de Lourdes Credit union to succeed Raphael Palardy, who left his home in Wilder street on July 13 on a vacation season and has not been heard from since.

The Notre Dame de Lourdes Credit union is located in Branch street and is operated on a co-operative plan, principally for French speaking people. It is a well established institution, conducted on a sound business basis.

Mr. Chretien, in accepting the position of treasurer, will be obliged to sever his connections with the Pollard Co., as the bank post is a full-time job and he plans to take up his new duties on Aug. 11.

Mr. Chretien is widely known in the city and is prominently connected with several social and fraternal organizations. In 1921 and 1922 he served as president of the C.M.A.C. and now is a member of the house committee. This week he was honored with the presidency of St. Joseph's College Alumni association. He is a graduate of the Lowell high school as well as St. Joseph's college. Mr. Chretien said today that nothing has been heard from Mr. Palardy, who now has been away for three weeks. The board of directors felt the need of a change in the bank management and because of the former treasurer's disappearance, not last night to take immediate action.

City lamp lighters of Sheffield, England, all take their vacations together, leaving the city in darkness for two weeks every year.

Loeb-Leopold Case Prosecutor Attacks Credibility of Government Physician

Says He Made His Findings To Suit Defendants, Who Are His Clients

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (by the Associated Press).—A direct attack on the credibility of Dr. William A. White, head of the government hospital for the insane of Washington, was made in Judge Caverly's court today by Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, who cross-examined the doctor on his testimony in defense of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb.

The attack developed in a shortened half day session when the prosecutor asked Dr. White to produce the "original report" he had made to attorneys for the defense. It was stated flatly by Mr. Crowe over objections, that came hurriedly from Attorney Clarence S. Parow and Walter Bacharach, that the report held the defendants "insane rather than mentally sick."

Judge Caverly suggested that since the question of insanity was barred from the present proceedings, the report might not be competent.

"But your honor," expostulated Mr. Crowe, "if that report shows that for $250 a day this witness has found these boys insane and then for the same fee now holds them only mentally sick, I believe your honor will give less weight to his opinions."

Another refusal of the report by the defense caused Mr. Crowe to say he was satisfied to "let the matter rest right there."

KENTUCKY JUDGE IN FAVOR OF HANGING

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Judge Lewis L. Munson, of the criminal court of Covington, Ky., after visiting the trial of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb for the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks, expressed the opinion today that they should not be loosed upon society.

"I fear that if this case were submitted to me, I would find it difficult not to give these defendants the rope," he said.

"This is a brutal crime, premeditated. I have followed it closely and if the facts are true, as presented by the prosecutor, I believe it would not be right to give them a sentence which would in time allow them to be freed and permit their spawn to be thrown upon society."

Only Eight in 1000 Were Noted as Possessing Physical Disabilities

CAMP DEVENS, Aug. 2.—Examination of 1000 of the 2700 members of the citizens' military training camp was completed today and developed physical disabilities in only eight cases. These were for minor causes, including uniformed toes and impaired teeth. The tests were much stricter than usual as a result of the heavy enrollment.

The camp attendants took the oath of obedience in a body today.

Major General Andre W. Brewster, commanding the first army corps area, and Brig. Gen. Malvern Hill Burnum, camp commandant, addressed the youngsters briefly.

SMITH AND DAVIS PLANNING MEETING

NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee and Governor Smith of New York will meet to discuss the campaign within a week, it was announced today by Thomas J. Spellacy, manager of the eastern headquarters of the party, speaking for Mr. Davis.

Governor Smith left Seagate today for a week-end yachting trip. He will return to New York on Monday and if he does not leave immediately for Albany he and Mr. Davis will confer then. Otherwise, they will meet at the home of Franklin D. Roosevelt, who was the governor's pre-convention campaign manager, at Hyde Park on the occasion of the clam bake of Dutchess County democrats, which both Mr. Davis and Governor Smith will attend.

LABOR TO TAKE STAND ON DEFENSE DAY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—National Defense day, Sept. 12, was today unexpectedly placed on the program of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in annual session here.

It was announced that the council would dispose of the question aroused by the proposition that the A.F. of L. endorse the LaFollette-Wheeler candidacy and that then, late today, a resolution would be introduced, which would place organized labor for or against the observance of defense day.

PLACES WRECK BLAME

WORCESTER, Aug. 2.—Judge Jacob Asher, in his report on the inquest into the Boston and Albany wreck of the Twilight express June 3, in which three persons were killed, finds that the direct cause of the wreck was the placing of stones on the track by Robert Doran, 1, and Michael Fraolito, 6.

The report, filed today, also contains recommendations for prevention of a further tragedy of that sort.

Easy to Build Crystal Set—and It's Cheap!

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

N. E. A. Service Radio Editor

From the beginning the crystal has never lost its prestige as a good detector.

Vacuum tubes of all kinds are being used today, in all sorts of more or less complicated manner, yet the crystal remains clearest and most efficient for local reception.

And since the tendency seems to be toward local broadcasting, through the unification of various stations and the strengthening of many others, the crystal will more and more become the best means for good reception.

Oscillation noises do not trouble the fan with a crystal set. Clearer reception than otherwise is his reward.

They're Cheap

The greatest satisfaction of all is that a good crystal set can be produced for about $3, excluding cost of a good set of headphones. The set to be described can be built for this amount, and no mechanical genius is required to do it.

The parts for this simple crystal set are:

One piece dielectric tubing, 4 inches in diameter and 6 inches long.

One pound No. 16, D.C.C. wire.

One crystal, mounted.

One fixed condenser, .001 mfd. capacity.

Two switch levers.

Sixteen switch points and four switch stops.

Four binding posts.

The entire set can be built on a 6 inch by 8-inch panel and a 6-inch by 6-inch base.

Easy to Make

The tuning coil, mounted on the tuning, consists of 70 turns of wire.

The first 50 turns are tapped off at every 10th turn. The remaining 10 turns are tapped off at every turn, making 16 taps in all.

The taps are made by allowing about a half-inch of the wire where required.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Me.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a Godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. Josie M. Shaw, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 98 out of every 100 were benefited by it.

MONSTER FOREST FIRE

Blaze Over 5-Mile Front Wipes Woods in Oregon and California

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Smoke spots in California in Oregon, the timbered Feather river canyon, and the crater national forest, were being swept by forest fires last night. The Feather river canyon fire was burning over a five-mile front. The fire with four small towns in its path, already had destroyed a number of buildings, including a landmark of the early '50s.

In the crater forest section in Oregon, fires were reported to have burned over 500 acres.

From Eastern Washington a fire was reported in the Colville national forest. The blaze was being fought by 150 men after it burned over 1000 acres in the forest and 1000 acres in the region adjoining.

At Santa Cruz, Calif., a new fire was reported burning on a half mile front.

The American Red Cross, Pacific division, prepared for eventualities yesterday after reports reached the state forest headquarters here that the forest fire situation was getting increasingly serious.

Eastern Steamship Co. Sustains $25,000 Loss When Camden, Me., Dock Burns

CAMDEN, Me., Aug. 2.—Fire today destroyed the wharf and buildings here owned by the Eastern Steamship Lines, Inc., with a loss of about $25,000. Passengers and freight were landed at Rockland and this arrangement will continue until a new wharf can be built. The cause of the fire was undetermined.

EXCHANGES RALLY AS PLAN MEETS FAVOR

NEW YORK, August 2.—The reaching of an agreement by the inter-allied conference, probably paving the way for execution of the Dawes plan and a general European settlement of the reparations problem, caused a sharp rally in the foreign exchanges at the opening of today's market.

Demand sterling mounted to a new high price for the year at $4.45, an overnight gain of more than two cents and almost that much over the previous 1924 top reached on July 22. French francs responded with a temporary advance, selling at 6.25 cents.

Foreign exchange dealers reported spirited trading, with buying orders for the allied currencies steadily increasing in volume.

FORMER SUPREME COURT JUSTICE IS DEAD

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 2.—George Shiras, Jr., justice of the United States supreme court from 1892 to 1903, died today from pneumonia, which developed after he had fractured his leg in a fall at his home here five weeks ago. He was 92 years of age.

K. K. K. RIOT CASES ARE CONTINUED

CLINTON, August 2.—The cases of six men arrested in connection with the disturbances which marked K. K. K. meeting at Lancaster Tuesday night, came up in the local court today, but were continued until Thursday.

Charles Schumaker and Louis Drielaux of Lancaster, and David Salvatore and Andrew Somme of Leominster, were arrested yesterday on charges of disturbing the peace as a result of state police investigation to determine those responsible for the discharge of firearms and use of clubs.

Schumaker, on whose farm the meeting was held, is said to have admitted firing a gun to frighten off a crowd. William O'Toole and Joseph Flynn, the other men involved in today's proceedings, were arrested early Wednesday morning during disturbance.

Harding Dead a Year Today

sidered the outstanding points of his first year in office, the president replied the general public perhaps was a better judge of that than himself.

Hopeful of getting in some additional work on his speech of acceptance of the formal notification of his nomination, Mr. Coolidge for the second consecutive week-end gave up his usual trip aboard the presidential yacht, Mayflower, hoping, however, to go aboard for a while tomorrow.

Mr. Coolidge said yesterday he expected to conclude his speech soon, but he reminded a group of newspapermen that pushing to an early conclusion a speech which was not to be delivered for some time probably might be compared with rushing a story which did not have to make an edition.

VISIT HARDING TOMB

Former Neighbors of Departed President at Graveside in Marion Cemetery

MAHON, O., Aug. 2.—Simplicity marked the first anniversary of the death of the late President Warren G. Harding in this, his home town.

Always avoiding ostentatious ceremony while he lived, his wishes were being followed after death. No public ceremony had been arranged other than the laying of a wreath at his tomb in the cemetery here. The wreath sent by President Coolidge was to be placed without pomp.

During the day hundreds wound their way along the shadowy paths of the cemetery, stood for a few moments with bowed heads at his tomb and passed on.

At 7 o'clock, the hour of his death at the Palace hotel in San Francisco one year ago, the old bell in the central fire station was to sound for the departed executive. At the first stroke friends and neighbors of the nation's former chief were to have their heads in reverent silence for five minutes.

Dr. G. F. Harding, the former president's god father, himself in failing health, was not to take part in any ceremony. With a few friends he may visit the tomb.

PRISONER SHOT IN RIOTING IS DEAD

RAHWAY, N. J., August 2.—George King, 21, of Brooklyn, who was shot in the abdomen during Wednesday's rioting at the New Jersey reformatory for boys, died in the Rahway hospital today.

King, a reformatory inmate, was shot when guards fired on the rioters in an effort to control the demonstration and end the fighting.

Reformatory officials said that an official investigation will be made.

EVEN SPECIALISTS FAILED

Then the Fruit Treatment—"Fruit-a-lives" Brought Complete Relief

It is simply marvelous how successful the Fruit Treatment is in overcoming chronic troubles like Constipation, Dyspepsia and Rheumatism.

The juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—intensified and combined with tonics—are made into small tablets called "Fruit-a-lives," which have proven the marvels of the medical world for many diseases.

For instance, Mr. James A. Shell, 50 Oakhill ave., Waterbury, Conn., says: "I recommend 'Fruit-a-lives' to anyone suffering from chronic Constipation. Having suffered for ten years, and receiving little relief from specialists, I at last have been helped by your good tablets."

STICKS TO THROTTLE TO END!

Harry Johnson of Cleveland, engineer on the Wheeling & Lake Erie, was faithful to his trust to the end. Rounding a sharp curve near Canton, O., he saw a trestle just ahead on fire. It was too late to stop his train. He ordered his fireman to jump, but he remained at the throttle, for the lives of 90 passengers were in his hands. The engine and three cars, mail, baggage and day coach, plunged off the bridge into a creek below, then caught fire. Twenty passengers were injured, but only one seriously. Johnson's heroism had saved their lives though it cost him his own. The picture shows the debris of the trestle and destroyed cars.

NEWFOUNDLAND STRIKE LIKELY TO RESULT IN GREAT DAMAGE

Ugly Attitude of Disgruntled Workmen Evidenced in Exchange of Telegrams Between Their Leader and Premier—Wage Increase Demand Not Met

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., Aug. 2.—The telegrams exchanged yesterday between Premier Monroe and Alfred Prince, head of the committee of strikers on the construction work of the Humbermouth Paper and Power plant on the west coast of Newfoundland, was made public today, showing the belligerent attitude of the strikers, who seek a ten per cent wage increase. Prince's first telegram read: "We want you at once. Three thousand men will board at government or company expense. If train comes and you are not there, will be sent back and demand you. I know express will not cross island until you come." To this the premier replied: "In best interest of all concerned, I suggest call off strike for present, giving government time to close the house and investigate the whole situation at Cornerbrook. Personally desirous giving every assistance possible."

Premier Monroe then telegraphed Prince that in view of his second message he could have no further communication with him. The Humbermouth project is being financed jointly by the Newfoundland government and British capitalists and when completed is expected to give employment to several thousand men. The mills are being constructed near the mouth of the Humber river, down which logs out of the western forests are floated. The government is concerned over the message received yesterday from General Manager Alexander of the company formed to carry out the project to the effect that William Couker, head of the Fishermen's Protective union and of the Fishermen's party, which has been active in colonial politics, was in close touch with the strike committee and would try to organize the workers if the company persisted in its refusal to increase wages. Most of the people in Newfoundland are primarily fishermen and are ready to turn their hands to other work, and it is believed here that many of the strikers are fishermen, who have been engaged as unskilled laborers.

CAPITAL "SASSIETY" FRETS OVER ALICE'S "MEMOIRS"

BY HARRY B. HUNT
N. E. A. Service Writer
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Washington "society," both official and unofficial, is all keyed up over word that Alice Longworth, "Princess Alice" of the old Roosevelt days, is writing her "memoirs."

"Will she tell this?" and "Will she tell that?" is being asked on every hand by persons and personages who know that, if she wrote without reservations, Mrs. Longworth could let, not one or two, but a flock of cats out of the bag.

For her reminiscences could reveal not merely the inside doings of social Washington for the last 25 years, but could reveal the inner influences that have shaped official and political history through many campaigns and administrations.

Probably no one in Washington could so certainly produce a "hit" as this daughter of "T. R." Her knack, as a girl, of delighting in doing the unusual, has been carried over into her more mature years in the ability to view and say things differently, and always with a "punch."

Confirmation of Mrs. Longworth's alleged literary efforts, however, is lacking. Possibly she's getting a lot of fun out of the suspense the unconfirmed report has caused. Certainly she has the town "guessing."

Another guessing contest, in which politically minded gentlemen, however, are most concerned, is that of trying to forecast who will be the next, from either of the old parties, to desert to Senator La Follette.

The list of La Follette lieutenants, coming over from the ranks of the democrats and the G. O. P., is becoming of quite respectable size.

Starting off with only Senator Shipstead and Marcus Johnson as senatorial supporters, he has been joined by Senators Ladd and Frazier, republicans, and Senator Wheeler, democrat, who comes as his running mate.

A break in the republican national committee was caused by the resignations of Ira Lorenz and Mrs. Julia Schenck, national committeewoman and committeewoman respectively, from Wisconsin.

Brookhart of Iowa, who has voted and will continue to vote with the La Follette group in congress, will not come into the La Follette camp for purposes of the campaign. He won his reputation as a republican and must make his fight for reelection on that ticket.

He will have his hands full in his own fight and can help La Follette more by getting back to the senate on the G. O. P. ticket than he could by jumping to the independent cause and complicating his own fight.

Similarly, Norris of Nebraska, while campaigning for re-election as a republican will take no part in the La Follette national campaign but will be very present and active part of any La Follette "balance of power" in the senate.

Just what position will be taken in the campaign by those two republican senators, Hiram Johnson, republican, of California, and James A. Reed, democrat, of Missouri, is yet to be seen.

Hiram has not been heard from since he conceded the futility of his campaign for delegates against Coolidge and withdrew from the presidential race.

Reed has kept ominously silent since he lost his fight to head an anti-McAdoo delegation to the New York convention.

But anyone who knows the two gentlemen will wager that they have been doing a lot of thinking, and some are even willing to wager they will pull something sensational once the campaign gets under way.

Hiram and Jim may produce memories, if not memoirs!

IN NEW YORK

By Stephen Hannagan
NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Man never is satisfied with the things at his disposal.

Out in rum row, 12 miles off the coast where rum boats anchor and await the coming of small boats from the shore, the crews have champagne, other fancy wines and liquors to quench their thirst.

But they weren't satisfied as they waited the long days and longer nights. They wanted beer.

Thirty kegs were captured en route to the rum fleet from the main land the other evening.

"Sore Legs" is a term applied to artists who are skipping a day's work. It originated years ago, I am told, with a newspaper artist, who, when for one reason or another he wanted to remain at home, would call his office and complain, "I can't come down today, I got 'sore legs.'"

In a little town near New York this letter has been posted on the bulletin board:

"Please find my husband. He is working in a factory in your town. Tell him that the chickens won't lay since he left. I've tried having nearly everybody in town feed them, but they won't eat. If he knew this he'd come home."

The letter, written by a woman in Norfolk, Va., was received by a postmistress, who is doing everything to find the husband.

PUGILISTS KICK AT Decision
The Gardner-Slims bout before the Nutone club was declared a draw by Referee LeClair and the local pugilists nearly precipitated a riot in protest against the decision, which they claim to be unwarranted. The Gardner rosters lost considerable money on bets and this had something to do with the disturbance.

"CONCRETE COP" PUTS REAL ONES ON THEIR BACKS

EAST BRIDGEWATER, Aug. 2.—Chief Everett Russell and Officer Wm. J. Campbell were badly shocked and burned here late last night when the traffic beacon in the town square exploded while the officers were refilling it.

They saw the light dimming and went to replace the tank, but failed to turn off the pilot light. The explosion could be heard for several blocks and the officers were knocked flat and their faces and clothes burned. Later they were treated by Dr. I. I. Richmond for burns about the face, hands and body.

NATIONS AGREE AT CONFERENCE

Complete Program for Launching Dawes Reparation Plan is Agreed Upon

Allied Premiers and American Ambassador Kellogg Take Up Technical Points

When the agreement was reached the weary experts, including the Americans, James A. Logan and Owen D. Young, and Mr. Fraser of Great Britain, who have slept little during the last 48 hours, left the conference room and the chief delegates began framing the invitation for the German government to send a delegation to London.

Prime Minister MacDonald will hand the invitation to the German embassy this afternoon and Foreign Minister Brüningmann and his colleagues are expected to reach London Monday night.

LONDON, Aug. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—A complete program for launching the Dawes reparation settlement plan was agreed upon by the international conference during a half-hour plenary session at the foreign office this morning. The allied premiers and American Ambassador Kellogg took up the technical point with which the experts had vainly struggled in two all-night sessions, and after modifications which Premier MacDonald and Herriot accepted the compromise settlement was reached.

The chief delegates are framing an invitation to the Germans to come to London to be despatched during the afternoon.

ROACH GROOMS NEW HAROLD LLOYD

BY A. H. FREDERICK
N. E. A. Service Writer
HOLLYWOOD, August 1.—The man who "found" Harold Lloyd, Hal E. Roach, now has one in process of grooming who he hopes will equal—not imitate—the great Harold.

Glenn Tryon, 25, and inclining toward sardonic humor, is the name of his potential luminary. He has just completed "The Battling Orioles," feature comedy, for Roach, which gives us first intimation of the correctness of the prediction.

The story, written by Roach himself, for release through Pathé, utilizes some entirely new elements for comedy, much to his advantage. Longest remembered of these will be a baseball game of long ago, guaranteed to draw mirth even from those surfeited with the counterpoint situations too often handed us under the name of "new" comedy.

After which preface there is a decided lag in the story while the characters are reintroduced to us in modern life. The hero, Tryon, is first shown to us in his barber shop shaving a man, with customary by-play surrounding this process—all more suitable to privacy than exhibition on the screen.

Then the story moves along in regular order, amusing situations following in rapid-fire sequence, semblance of a story interview, until climaxes and comes with a light long-drawn-out, but unique in handling and participants, half of the latter being men all past the allotted three score years and ten.

Blanche Mehaffey, late of the Follies, plays opposite Tryon pulchritudinally, athletically, and artistically, but chief interest naturally centers about him of the Hal Roach predictions.

First and foremost, Tryon is of pleasing screen personality, equally convincing in a breezy offhandedness and in pathos, a little of which—more "feeler" perhaps—Roach allows him.

But there is much mellowing to be done before Tryon achieves the depth of Lloyd, Chaplin or other comedy kings. Too much mingling yet of superficial reaction to situation, too little under-the-skin feeling in his part.

Also there is a superfluity of staidness and self-consciousness in Tryon's mannerisms, both of which may be counted upon to disappear when he is "established."

With this in mind, with knowledge that Tryon is good-looking (the plays without facial adornment of any kind) and of pleasing personality, considering that he is naturally endowed with comedy genius, and remembering that Roach, discoverer of Lloyd, Rebe Daniels, Mildred Davis, and others, is his sponsor, it is not a rash guess to predict that a new star is breaking in to Finland's dominion.

ANNIVERSARY MASS
There will be an anniversary mass of requiem for the repose of the soul of Thomas J. Carroll at St. Patrick's church Monday morning at 7:45.

CARD OF THANKS
We, the undersigned, wish to express sincere thanks to the friends and spiritual benefactors, acts of kindness and expressions of condolence, served to lighten the burden of grief at the time of the death of husband and brother. Such evidence of friendship we shall ever cherish in loving remembrance.

Plane Separates in Fall

between the Faroe islands and Iceland, reported this afternoon that Lieut. Eric Nelson in the New Orleans was passing over, headed for Hornafjord, Iceland.

KIRKWALL, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.) The American army airmen on their world flight struck a heavy fog off the north coast of the Orkneys after setting out from here for Iceland early today and the planes became separated. Lieut. Lovell H. Smith and Lieut. Leigh Wade circled their machines for some time in a hunt for Lieut. Eric Nelson in the New Orleans, who was apparently in the rear, but not finding him returned to Kirkwall.

The machines put back afterwards settled down in Houtan bay to await the return of Lieut. Nelson. A wireless message to the cruiser Richmond which had preceded the airplanes notified her of the situation and she is returning.

Lieutenant Smith expressed his belief that Lieutenant Nelson was continuing on to Iceland. The flight commander said that just after clearing the Orkneys the three planes plunged into a dense fog, extending up 3000 feet. The fliers avoided it by dodging eastward, but were soon trapped in another thicker fog.

The fliers immediately lost sight of each other, but Smith and Wade, turning eastward, came together in a clear space 25 miles off Birsay, in the Orkneys.

They searched half an hour for Lieutenant Nelson and then abandoned the hunt to seek for the Richmond in order to drop a message bag. The Richmond was hidden in another fog off the West Orkneys, and then they gave up this effort and returned over Kirkwall, dropping their message and then anchoring in Houtan bay.

WOULD CURTAIL OLYMPIC GAMES

Proposal is to Pattern Contests More After Original Grecian Games

Too Many Events Now for Smaller Nations to Compete is Claim

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—A radical change in the programs of Olympic games to a pattern more resembling that of the original Olympics in ancient Greece, involving a reduction of the number of contests to 29, is urged by Erik Bergvall, director of the Olympic stadium in Stockholm, and a well known leader in Swedish athletics.

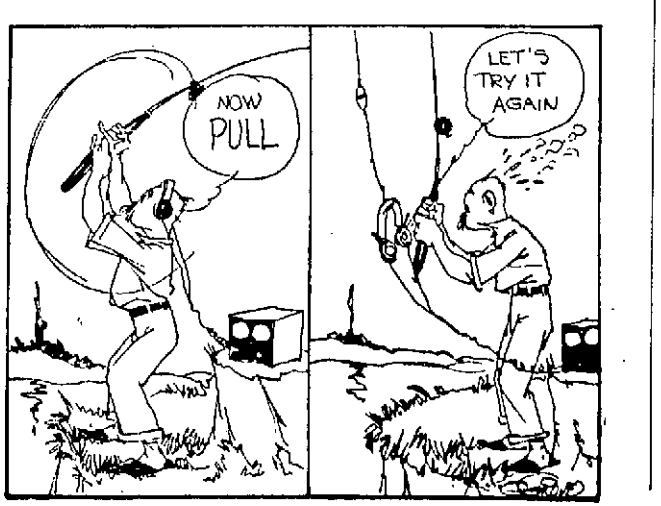

Mr. Bergvall attaches paramount importance to the power of the Olympic game to strengthen the feeling of solidarity among nations, and the Olympic games in ancient Greece helped to bind together the states, but he points out that it is becoming increasingly difficult for smaller nations to participate on the large scale which the modern games demand. The ancient games lasted only five days and there were only 16 or 17 events on the program, while the modern games last for months and have all the way from 100 to 330 events.

The Swedish expert grants that climate and other physical circumstances make it necessary for various nations to recommend more or less peculiar to themselves, and in which they would naturally be expected to win the highest prizes, hence it would not be fair to reduce the program down to the ancient limits. Yet, allowing for this variety, he thinks the number of events could be reduced to 29.

The ideal program, according to Mr. Bergvall, is as follows:
Running, 100, 400, 1500, and 5000 meter races; hurdles one event; high jump, broad jump, pole vault, javelin, discus, shot, hammer, pentathlon, decathlon, wrestling, in five classes, gymnastic drill, swimming, 100, 200, 500, 1500 meter races; boxing in five classes.

Mr. Bergvall objects to team contests for economic reasons. This would eliminate football, relay teams, etc. He would omit rowing and sailing contests because it is virtually impossible to find a place for performance which would offer fair conditions to all competitors. He recommends leaving out all winter sports, a line in which the Swedes themselves excel, and further thinks that motor races, bicycle races, golf, shooting, tennis and weight lifting have no proper place in an Olympic program.

POLITICS NOW THE ONLY TOPIC OF CONVERSATION IN WASHINGTON

Triangular Contest Discussed—Senator D. I. Walsh Favorably Regarded at Capitol—Campaign Guns Being Loaded—Coolidge Drop Social Life

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 2.—You talk politics in Washington today or you don't talk at all. There is nothing else in the air.

The three party contest for the November election is the main topic of the day. "The Man Without a Country" is the only running mate to the La Follette candidacy, whose following has yet failed to take on a name under which to sail through the turbulent waters of a national election.

Prominent men of both the regular political parties are fighting shy of La Follette friendship these days.

Our own Senator David I. Walsh, whom La Follette and Wheeler smile upon, may not suffer from the blight of their professional friendship, but Walsh is too staunch a party man to appreciate their "kind words" at this moment.

Walsh has the respect and kindly regard of every senator now in office. Even those who differ from him in political faith, honor his views and appreciate his sound and eloquent presentations of the political views he holds.

It was not necessary for La Follette and Wheeler to mention the fact that they are friendly to Walsh. Everybody on the floor of the senate is friendly to Walsh, personally, and to emphasize their views was to play to the galleries, in the hope of entangling Walsh, as a personal friend, in the political meshes of an insurgent net with which he can have no possible sympathy.

It ought not to have any untoward effect on Walsh, for his party loyalty, his staunchness in upholding the principles of democracy and his splendid record as a democratic governor and senator put him beyond the pale of La Follettism and the evils it entails.

Campaign Guns Being Loaded

While the democratic presidential candidate was taking life easy down in Maine, former Chairman Hull and the newly elected chairman, Mr. Shaver, were swapping campaign yarns as the national committee changed horses preparatory to a vigorous campaign as soon as the two presidential candidates had been formally notified of their nominations and the opening guns of the fight have been fired.

Senator Tom Ifflin of Alabama

Senator Tom Ifflin of Alabama, however, isn't waiting for any formal announcements, but is firing hot shot into the republican camp along the lines with which the senate is so familiar. At this moment he is making Republican Chairman Butler the target of his arrows. Ifflin reminds the public that just as in 1915 Roosevelt had the third ticket put the democrats in power, so now, in 1924, La Follette and the third ticket is likely to put Davis to the front. Ifflin predicts that the second place will be held by La Follette and Coolidge will trail along in the third place.

But Ifflin's confidence in the outcome is not spreading to the more conservative and level-headed democrats and they are working "tooth and nail" to secure a big majority at the November election, and take no chances on what a third party may do.

While Ifflin is loudly against Butler and his methods, critics remark that "Tom" hasn't yet stirred up anyone to the point of referring to Butler as "Bill."

If the coldness of Lodge can be outdone by New Englander Mr. Rogers' opinion in Washington that Butler is the man to do the job, and one would as soon think of greeting the senior senator with a gleeful "Hi, there, Hen!" as to refer to Mr. Butler other than as the Honorable William M.

Former Vice Pres. Marshall

Former Vice President Marshall says he was recently called on to deliver an address at Culver academy, which is a military school, and that his funny bone was tickled when he found that a medal was being bestowed on an athletic youth because he had lost 30 pounds within a given time. To lose fat and gain a medal, though it tickled the vice president's sense of humor, roused in him the interesting comparison, which he used in his address, that "we could put up a better fight in life if we dropped some of the fat in the affairs of life." Among the fat makers that spoil men, Marshall reckons envy, malice, vanity, covetousness. He says "accept the gifts the gods have given us" and stop worrying about them. We have not had enough of us, and the United States would immediately become better. And Marshall, with his ready wit and keen tongue, made a hit at the academy by taking

C. F. Cronin Files Papers for Democratic Nomination for Congressman

Holding Office Open for Man to Be Picked by State Committee

Democratic Organization and Davis Club Members Want Humphrey O'Sullivan

Cornelius F. Cronin, of 344 Varnum avenue, has filed papers for the democratic nomination for congressman from the Fifth district, in opposition to Hon. John Jacob Rogers. Mr. Cronin says he is simply holding the place open for some other man to be picked by the state democratic committee and the Davis organization.

High Cost of Living in England

Frederick William Wile, a nationally known Washington correspondent, writes from London that the jump in the cost of living here is something appalling to men who know England only before the war. Wile served as London correspondent, also as war correspondent and is now making a brief trip to England. We think our prices have gone skyward to an extent that puts the workman on the jump to keep up with them; but listen to what Wile has to say about the increased cost of living in England since he was last there five years ago. "London revisited after five years' absence is the same old sixpence, but to be financially accurate, we ought to say the sixpence has become a shilling, for the proportionate difference of just about 1000 per cent represents the discrepancy between the cost of things in the old days, in wartime, and the sky-high prices of today. Your taxi started at sixpence five years ago, but now it costs a shilling and a half, with corresponding prices of all other things. Clothes, rents, servants, food, amusements and everything are vastly dearer than ever. To the stranger, familiar with other times, London prices today are staggering. In other things London and the Englishman are unchanged."

Senators as Fugitives

Arkansas is getting, in Washington, the reputation of fitting its senators for public office, through prize ring methods. Both Robinson and Caraway are hot-headed and quick to quarrel with their fists any real or fancied insult. Robinson was expelled from a Country club a few weeks ago for letting his temper get the best of him, during which freak of passion he vented himself on a prominent physician using the golf course. This week, Robinson, Caraway, got into trouble and arrested in New York, by taking similar methods with an automobile which he crossed his path in dangerous fashion.

SUMMER REVIEW SCHOOL

Lowell Summer Review High School. Term Will Close Aug. 15

The summer review high school term closes for the present season on Friday, August 15. Examinations covering the work of the term that opened so successfully on Monday, July 7, last, will be conducted on the last two days of the term, August 14 and 15.

If the full enrollment of boy and girl high school pupils of the first and second (freshman and sophomore) grades responds to the summons for the final examinations that are necessary to establish the pupils' status in his class and studies to come after the September re-opening of school, 268 separate papers will have to be read and passed upon by those who are assigned to the task.

Everything will depend upon examinations and the careful judging and reporting on the results attained by the scores of aspirants in the valiant "making up studies" struggle. That the approach of the last day of the summer review high school is anticipated with eager interest and hopefulness, goes without saying.

No similar institution conducted by Lowell high school authorities in a sympathetic aid of "backward" pupils is carried on more earnestly with splendid direction at all times by selected educators to aid boys and girls in "catching up" with their class before the re-opening of school. The victors are enabled to march happily along with their mates, prepared for the year ahead without regrets.

School pupils failing to reach required percentage standards allowing them to advance into a higher grade when the fall terms open, are often handicapped by the feeling that companions in the race are smarter than they are. The opening of summer review schools, such as the one now in progress at Lowell high school under the direct daily supervision of Headmaster Henry H. Harris and an energetic corps of eight feminine and two masculine school instructors proud of their responsible positions, has proved to be a decided step in the right direction in awakening lagging ambitions in school children of backward tendencies.

That many Lowell boys and girls have been helped by this summer review school instruction is a shining fact. The great majority of pupils who have been attending the 1924 school three hours each day, from 8 a.m. to 11 a.m., five days each week, will be able to take up new advanced studies in a higher school grade when school opens in September.

The average daily attendance of the summer school is about 200. The full enrollment is 263. The daily attendance naturally varies for many different reasons. Last year, the attendance figures were considerably lower, so the school authorities are rather proud of the enrollment for the 1924 season. Last summer, the review class was conducted for backward members of the freshmen class only, those who had failed to attain proper marks to enable them to advance into the sophomore class. This season, there are study periods for both first and second year students, thus aiding more pupils than were provided with facilities last year.

Familiar school subjects are on the 1924 study program, from beginners' algebra, algebra 1A, geometry 1A and 1B, stenography and typewriting, English, French and Latin under the different number and letter designations. The majority of students this year are under the age of 16 years, except in the stenography and typewriting classes, where there are more students 16 years and a little over.

TURPIN, IN LATEST, APES VON STROHEIM

BY A. H. FREDERICK
N.E.A. Service Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 2.—Neither "Three Weeks" nor "Foolish Wives," presenting as they do such ample opportunities for burlesque, should have expected to have escaped the hands of the funsters. They didn't. Mack Sennett recently completed the filming of "Three Foolish Weeks," as the name suggests, a double-barreled burlesque.

Principal star is Ben Turpin, he of the misbehaving eyes and prankish nature, but otherwise a renovation. Not now the shabby suit and misfit neckwear, no indeed. Turpin has modeled himself upon the person of Erich von Stroheim, due allowance being made for the different fields of their talents. Eyeglasses, walking stick, uniform and medals all complete.

To those who expect to laugh because of the dissimilar similarity between either of the serious pictures and the takeoff, perhaps Turpin's makeup will be the funniest thing in the picture.

To those who enjoy Turpin and the Sennett studio humor, well, they may expect a two-reef treat in the near future.

Which all leads to the declaration—or hint to theatregoers—that the picture is much more a straightaway Sennett comedy than a burlesque. The title, Turpin's makeup, and the picture's setting, at the best, there is an exceptionally good Sennett comedy with some new incidents.

BAND CONCERT

Chelmsford brass band gave a splendid open air concert last evening in East Chelmsford, the director being D. M. McEay. There was a large audience, music-lovers coming from several surrounding towns to enjoy an excellent program of numbers old and new.

Is a Bad Back Wearing You Out?

Do you get up these summer mornings lame, stiff, achy all over? Is each August day but a weary round of throbbing backache and torturing pains? Are you so tired, nervous and dispirited it seems you just can't keep going?

Then why not cleanse your system of the impurities that are making you feel so miserable? Why not help your weakened kidneys as so many Lowell folks have done? Well kidneys keep the blood stream pure. Sluggish kidneys pave the way for slow poisoning of blood and nerves.

Don't wait for some serious kidney trouble. Use Doan's Pills before it is too late. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Lowell Folks:

Mrs. Norman Dow, 10 Smith St., says: "My back was lame and when on my feet long I thought it would give out completely. A pain in my back made it hard to stoop. I had headaches and dizzy spells when everything whirled. My kidneys were badly disordered. Doan's Pills caused every symptom to disappear and I haven't been troubled since."

O. A. Knapp, city fireman, 47 Hawthorne St., says: "Exposure in all kinds of weather brought on kidney trouble and I had a pain in my back. When I stooped, a stitch caught me, too. I had dizzy spells and came near falling over. I got Doan's Pills at Liggett's Drug Store and they rid me of the trouble."

(Statement given November 10, 1921.)

On October 20, 1923, Mr. Knapp said: "I use Doan's occasionally and they never fail to give good results."

America Outpaces Rest of World in Hydro-Electro Power Reserves

ABOVE—A GIGANTIC AMERICAN POWER DAM BELOW—A COMPARISON BETWEEN THE POWER DEVELOPED BY THE UNITED STATES AND OTHER NATIONS. IN INSET—MAJOR GENERAL SIR PHILIP A. M. NASH, EMINENT BRITISH ENGINEER

By MILTON BRONNER

By N.E.A. Service

LONDON, August 2.—The United States is destined to become the greatest power in the world.

This fact was brought out at the world conference on power, held at the British Empire exhibition at Wembley.

Engineers—British and American—testified to this destiny. It is true, they said, because America has more available hydro-electric power than any other nation in the world.

Hydro-electric power, engineers concede, is the future power. The United States already has developed more than any other nation in the world.

And it can develop greater quantities than any other nation in the world.

Thus, in a short time, the rest of the world will become economic tributaries to the United States.

Furthermore, this great power resting in the United States will enable America to outstrip other nations in peace time manufacturing.

This great amount of power will be an insurmountable handicap to other nations in time of war.

Major Gen. Sir Philip Nash, outstanding British authority, showed that the coal, oil and water supply available in 1920, in terms of millions of kilowatt hours, was divided as follows:

United States 584,000
Great Britain 165,000
Germany 145,000
France 135,000
Italy 10,582
Switzerland 7,513

Of this potential energy, the United States consumed only 8.4 per cent; Great Britain, 2.88 per cent; Germany, 3.21 per cent; France, 16.5 per cent; Italy, 32.1 per cent, and Switzerland, 35.2 per cent.

Britain Next
Great Britain is the only other industrial nation capable of greatly increasing its electrical output. But even at that, the United States had almost four times as much power available.

In 1921 the United States produced 41,000 kilowatt hours against 4900 for Great Britain, 4300 for Italy and 3100 for Switzerland.

Besides this great advantage, America has developed super-power. This is a term applied to the system where almost all of the power producers are linked together. When one system requires more power, it draws upon another. When another has a surplus, it sells to a third.

This means that power can be mobilized. It means that waste is eliminated. It means that the surplus can be disposed of.

It also means that coal and oil can be conserved to a greater extent than possible in other countries.

It is the lever by which United States can exercise international economic supremacy.

WISCONSIN GOVERNOR AGAINST PLANS FOR DEFENSE DAY

Communicates With General Commanding District—"Inadvisable to Stimulate National Military Movement," He Says—For Peace Demonstration

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 2.—Gov. Blaine today recorded himself as definitely opposed to national defense day, Sept. 12, and characterized the plan as designed to stimulate a national military movement, which would be taken by foreign countries as a militaristic maneuver.

The governor will not designate the day in Wisconsin. It was said.

Mr. Blaine's attitude was contained in a communication to Major General Hale, commander of the Sixth army corps area, Chicago, by Adj. Gen. R. C. Inman, at the governor's direction.

"It is inadvisable for the American government through propaganda and demonstration to stimulate a national military movement," the statement declared, holding that a patriotic demonstration in Wisconsin is unnecessary and that "it would be better to hold a demonstration that would lead the way for foreign nations to universal peace."

The Wisconsin national guard will participate in the demonstration only on the call issued on the constitutional authority in a national emergency, the statement said.

Meanwhile the conference will take a recess with the exception of the future committee, which are drafting the results of the fortnight's work so that the document can be submitted to the Germans.

The conference will enter its final phase with the arrival of the Germans, who will be asked to express their opinions on the program for putting the Dawes scheme into operation. After the Germans have been heard, a protocol embodying the program will be signed by the allies and the Germans. It is expected, and then the reparations commission will make its appointments and set up the organization necessary for carrying out the Dawes proposals.

TO FIGHT EXTRADITION

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 2.—Charles A. Matthews, Jr., former deputy provincial treasurer of Ontario, Canada, held here on a technical charge of illegal entry to the United States, today announced he would fight extradition proceedings if any are brought by the Canadian authorities.

Advises received here from Toronto said that Matthews was wanted here in connection with alleged irregularities in the disposition of bonds. Matthews was arrested at Santa Clara Wednesday and told immigration officials then that he would not fight extradition.

TAILTEANN GAMES

TODAY IN DUBLIN

DUBLIN, Aug. 2 (by the Associated Press).—Dublin was in fête for the opening of the Tailteann games today, despite the inconvenience caused by the strikes of municipal employees. The electric lighting, which is supplied by the municipality, has been cut off, but the crowded hotels are finding substitutes for it, and the work of cleaning the city, left by the strikers, has been undertaken by citizens.

The decorations give the city an air of festiveness such as it has never had before except on the occasion of a royal visit.

Splendid Attraction at Merrimack Square Theatre

READY TO START THE DAY FULL OF PER IN HIS OFFICE—MONARCH OF ALL HE SURVEYS

HIGH COST OF LOVING

Manager Peterson has arranged two exceptionally meritorious features for the bill at the Merrimack Square theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Babbitt," by Sinclair Lewis, celebrated author of the equally celebrated "Main Street," is the undelimited attraction, with such stars as Carmel Myers, Willard Louis, Mary Alden, Raymond McKee and Kathleen Myers in the leading roles. The second attraction is "George Washington, Jr.," an adaptation of the notable George M. Cohan play with popular Wesley Barry in the leading role. Here's a combination that is hard to beat.

Only such a master of characterization as Sinclair Lewis could have built up a "Babbitt," typical of the American business man of practical exterior, whose heart is young with dreams of romance.

Sinclair Lewis, in his book, has drawn to the life, the important man of affairs, whose activities in the civic, social and business world of America have made this country what it is. He is hard-headed, shrewd, money-getting and practical, yet there is the side that never appears—that hunger for springtime with its fragrance of romance. That is the character that Willard Louis portrays in the Warner Bros. classic of the screen, "Babbitt." He is bored with his wife, Myra, as played by Mary Alden; tired of the constant quarrelling with his children; weary of the colorless routine of his real estate office. Blindly he is seeking the "something" life is cheating him of.

Life to him seemed just a jumble of meaningless days—one as gray as the other. But it was his inner self that was real to Babbitt. Inarticulate and not given to self expression, it was in his thoughts alone that Babbitt lived as he wanted to—surrounded by beauty and color.

His family is the average American family. Children growing up and developing individual desires and personalities, that conflict with the conservative theories of their parents. The irritating symphony of continual quarrel drives Babbitt to distraction—until in final revolt he breaks the barriers and goes in search of romance.

This photoplay of a man, his family and his friend are remarkably told on the screen, having been directed by Harry Beaumont, who it will be remembered also directed "Main Street" from the pen of Mr. Lewis. He tells the truth. And you will see yourself in the place of "Babbitt," or his wife, child, friend or neighbor, as the case may be.

Willard Louis, in the leading role, is ably supported by Mary Alden, Carmel Myers, Raymond McKee, Maxine Elliott Hicks, Cissy Fitzgerald, Dale Fuller and others of equal merit.

"George Washington, Jr.," the second feature, is a rapidly moving comedy-drama of society life in the highest political circles of our capital. Its brilliant parties, the lavishly dressed women, the polished senators, foreign diplomats and noblemen give enough promise of a highly spiced interesting picture.

But in addition to all this there is Wesley Barry, the intangible, young actor, who never fails to win his way into your heart before the picture fades off the screen.

A comedy and the latest International News will complete the bill. Don't forget, it's always cool and comfortable at the Merrimack Square.

WHEELER STANDS CHANCE TO BECOME PRESIDENT

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

N.E.A. Service Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—In accepting the progressive nomination for vice president, Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana isn't making an unqualified sacrifice of himself, as some people assume.

Nor is he dooming himself to become a political nonentity even in the event of victory, as it's generally assumed the vice presidential candidate does not, assuming, of course, that the chief magistrate lives out his term and his next in line simply spends four years presiding over the United States senate.

On the contrary, Senator Wheeler, in accepting the progressive nomination, stands the best chance to become, not vice presidential candidate ever did stand.

No national progressive really thinks Senator Robert M. La Follette will have a "majority over all" in the electoral college. Some national progressives say so, but it's just political talk.

But the progressives do think their ticket stands a fair chance of getting an electoral plurality, or, if not, that it will run second anyway, and that a plurality will be the best the leading ticket can show.

It might, conceivably, "throw in" with the progressives. That would elect Wheeler, and the deadlocked house, having made no presidential choice, Wheeler, as vice president, would become president.

The obvious conclusion, on all the "dope," is that Wheeler stands a rather better chance at the presidency than La Follette himself.

BIG STAKE RACE AT WINDSOR TODAY

WINDSOR, Ont., Aug. 2.—The Michigan stake, a $2000 purse for 203 trotters, will feature the grand circuit meeting at Devonshire track today. The event has five entries.

The other two races are the 2:20 trot for a purse of $1000, with six entries, and the 2:12 pace for $1000 with six.

PLAN MONUMENT FOR U. S. FLIERS

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 2.—A granite and bronze monument will be dedicated on Sand Point aviation field near this city, whence four American army planes started April 5 on a flight around the world, when three of them return there.

The memorial is to consist of a shaft of Washington granite, surmounted by a bronze globe with great bronze wings springing from it. Because the first hard stages of the flight were along Alaska, copper brought from that territory is to be used in making the bronze.

Splendid Picture Offerings at The Rialto

ALICE LAKE, HENRY B. WALTHALL and HELEN FERGUSON in "The UNKNOWN PURPLE"

"The Unknown Purple," the adaptation of Roland West's stage play which opens at Lee's Rialto Monday, is one of the most thrilling photoplays that has ever been made.

Probably the outstanding feature of the picture is the uncanny manner in which the producer has handled the purple ray of light which predominates many of the scenes and in which there is a human body invisible to the eye. The work of that sterling artist, Henry B. Walthall, is said to stand out also in his portrayal of the inventive genius who, betrayed by those he loved best, returns after seven years in prison, to take a vengeance on them. Supporting him are such well known players as Alice Lake, Stuart Holmes, Ethel Grey Terry, Helen Ferguson, James Morrison, Frankie Lee and Mike Dunlop.

The story opens with Peter Marchmont in prison, where he learns from the man in the cell next to his, that it was his own wife and her lover who betrayed him. He is possessed and sent him to prison. After his term expired, unrecognized now as his former self, Peter Marchmont returns and through the medium of the purple ray he has discovered, makes himself invisible at will and begins to undermine the existence of his former wife and her husband, the two who betrayed him. Through a series of uncanny, thrilling happenings he brings the man to the verge of ruin, makes love to the woman who was his wife, and in the final gripping climax, when she agrees to flee with Marchmont, he urges her first to a deed which brings vengeance on them. Supportive of the obstacles and the hardships encountered by the pioneers in their march across the continent. Many exciting skirmishes with the Indians are shown and it is said to be a picture of the week starting Sunday.

The associate feature presents Tom Mix in "The Wagon Trail," which is a picture of covered wagon days. It depicts the obstacles and the hardships encountered by the pioneers in their march across the continent. Many exciting skirmishes with the Indians are shown and it is said to be a picture of the week starting Sunday.

The usual short subjects which include a clever comedy and Fox news are also on the bill for the first half of the week starting Sunday.

An unusually high class program will be shown Sunday only. Blanche Sweet, Pauline Starke, Edmund Lowe and Hobart Bosworth are the stars who appear in the year's most lavish production, "In the Palace of the King," and Walter Hiers will be seen in "Mr. Billings Spends His Dime," a very funny comedy feature. These two pictures will be shown Sunday only.

STEAMER PROCEEDS UNDER OWN POWER

MANILA, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—The steamer Stanley, whose engines broke down several days ago while she was off the island of Palawan is proceeding to Ho Ho under her own power, said a wireless message picked up here today. It is believed repairs will be possible at Ho Ho, the message said.

The Stanley was bound from Shanghai for Europe with general cargo.

LONDON SHOWS LOVE FOR MARIE TEMPEST

LONDON, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—London critics are hailing with acclaim the return of Marie Tempest to musical comedy after an absence of 25 years in straight comedy roles. Her recent appearance in a comedy-fantasy occasioned an ovation on her every entry, and after the close of the last act Miss Tempest was kept on the stage for 15 minutes while the audience, English audiences are the most conservative in the world, expressed its appreciation by a gale of handclapping, cane pounding and shouting.

So overcome was Miss Tempest at her reception that once, during the second act, she completely forgot her lines, and was forced to improvise for several minutes, she confessed at the close of the evening. London critics said that the enthusiasm with which she was hailed was memorable.

Miss Tempest who is 53 years old first appeared on the stage in "Boccaccio," in 1888.

Performance Continues From 1 to 10:15.

WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

It does not seem that ten years have elapsed since the opening of the World war, but such is the case. During the progress of that titanic struggle, the world underwent more changes perhaps than ever before within a similar period. Never in the history of the world were so many nations involved in a universal conflict, and never did the human race pay such a penalty in the loss of life and the widespread diffusion of suffering and misery.

Germany, the chief agent in precipitating this world conflict, was finally defeated through the assistance rendered by the United States. Had we not entered the war, Germany would probably have been able to force a compromise peace. But although she was defeated and forced to surrender, she has balked to such an extent on the payment of war reparations or even an agreement to pay a reasonable amount for the loss and damage inflicted on the allied nations, that this issue still remains open and is at this moment the subject of controversy at the Paris conference still in session.

It is hoped, however, that the Dawes plan of settlement recommended by an American committee, will eventually be adopted and establish a clear understanding among the nations as to the obligations imposed upon Germany. With that accomplished, the nations of Europe will turn their attention to the work of reconstruction and with full confidence that they will not again, at least in this generation, be harassed by the horrors of war.

Had not Clemenceau insisted on making the treaty of peace without invading Germany, General Foch might have gone to Berlin, in which case the terms of peace would have been definitely settled before evacuation. Clemenceau blundered and as a result, ten years have passed in suspense, uncertainty and alarm while the victorious nations have suffered vastly more than the nation they vanquished and whose territory was not invaded at any point. It is well known that during these years the German people have shown reckless disregard for economic living, something they could not afford to do if they had been saddled by a great war indemnity or a big bill for reparations.

In the present three-cornered political fight, it is well that the electorate should have clear ideas as to some of the fundamental principles involved. One of the plainest facts in the situation is, that a great movement is on foot over a large part of this country, with the specific aim of delivering organized labor, and particularly railroad labor, into an alliance with socialism under the standard of Senator La Follette, of Wisconsin, now running as an independent candidate for president.

Socialist leaders are foremost in the La Follette camp and in conducting his campaign. Some time ago, he announced that he did not want the support of such radicals; but that was only to disguise his real motives. La Follette and his party stand for government ownership of railroads and other features of the socialist platform; and it would, therefore, be against the fixed policy of organized labor as represented by President Gompers of the A. F. of L. to have labor unions line up with any such radical aggregation as that which is now gathering around Mr. La Follette.

La Follette also favors a change in the constitution of the United States under which the supreme court would be subordinate to congress. That would mark the downfall of popular liberty in this country, as congress could at any time, wipe out any provision of the constitution whether in reference to federal or state government, as it might see fit to determine.

Let it be understood, that no party which is supported by Morris Hilquit and Victor Berger, should be supported by any honest democrat or republican, or any patriotic citizen who stands for upbuilding the constitution of the United States.

THE KLAN RIOTS

It seems that the members of the Ku Klux Klan who were involved in the riots at Lancaster and Haverhill were armed with shotguns. Investigation by the state commissioner of public safety shows that over 12,500 permits to carry arms have been granted this year. It is presumed that most of these were granted to members of the Klan.

When, therefore, the Klan brings together an assembly in an open field to carry out its ceremonies, it appears that it is guarded by a line of men armed with shotguns. At least that was the arrangement at Lancaster and Haverhill where riots occurred. It is easy to see how bold and defiant armed men will be with a rather disorderly crowd of spectators. It is easy to imagine, also, that men so armed will start a riot on the slightest pretext, just as a man who carries a revolver may use it even on the plea of self-defense without any justification. This form of armed assembly is a menace to the public peace and should be prevented. We are glad to note that the state department of public safety will not tolerate public assemblies of armed men.

On the other hand, the people who have nothing to do with the Klan should keep away from them. The order is a mushroom growth started for political effect and if let alone, it will soon die out, just as did its prototypes, the A.P.A. and earlier movements of a similar kind. Therefore, we say, let the deluded Klansmen alone, and when they find they are merely bumping their heads against the stone wall of religious freedom, they will soon desist. Such movements die of inanition and are usually made up of simple dupes who are imposed upon by demagogic leaders.

COAL SHORTAGE PREDICTED. Many coal operators, producers and distributors of anthracite declare in positive fashion that customers who do not order their full supplies of coal at once may be unable to obtain enough to "carry" them through the winter months to come.

A not unusual feature of the present situation, whether it is actually serious or not, is the absolute indifference of the buying public. Coal merchants do not report any heavy summer "stocking up" or renewed buying, even with warnings being issued almost daily by coal merchants as well as vigilant members of committees on the necessities of life.

There is little encouragement to be found in the car service division report, coming from the American Railway association which, on Monday of this week, called attention to the fact that the railroads now have nearly 170,000 surplus coal cars in good repair and immediately available for use.

service, but they are not in use owing to the lack of demand for fuel.

Coal production this year so far has fallen below the corresponding period in 1923, bituminous alone up to July 12 having been more than 50,000,000 tons below that for the same period in 1923. If this situation continues till September, then it is obvious that a large proportion of the dilatory ones will have to wait till cold weather before getting their supply.

KING'S NAME DELETED

If there was ever any doubt that the change in the Irish judicial system would be complete, it has been dispelled by the setting up of the new supreme court in Dublin and the proposed changes in legal forms which are described as "archaic and feudal."

It is intended to couch charges and indictments in "simple words" which can be understood by the layman. Then care is taken to eliminate the king's name from legal proceedings, so as not to hurt the sensibilities of the Irish.

PRICES DROPPING

Prices of many commodities are dropping in nearly every important country except Germany and other places where money has been issued in such vast amounts that a rise in its buying power is impossible. Wholesale prices, for instance, have been slipping in America. In England they are falling at the rate of 25 per cent a year and now average only 75 per cent higher than in 1914, compared with 225 per cent in 1920. It is a world movement downward—but just how far it will go is uncertain.

INSECT PESTS

Grasshoppers have become so thick in Texas that it requires the use of arsenic by the railroad to cope with the pest. In South Africa the government has appropriated $1,500,000, to fight a plague of locusts said to be the worst on record. It is reported that in one district a swarm of these insects extended 150 miles and devoured every bit of green vegetation in its path. "Thus it is, that with germ and other pests, man is assailed by destroyers on all sides and must defend himself continually if he would survive."

OUR POPULATION

America's population is gaining at the rate of one and three-quarter millions a year. That has been the rate of increase since the 1920 census. We are close to a total of 114 millions now. In fifty years, at the present rate of increase, we'll be 200 millions strong. And if all immigration burs were down, we would probably have the 200 millions as fast as steamships could bring them. China could send that many and not miss them.

It is not expected that the British objection to our plan of elevation of naval guns will reach any serious crisis. It is understood that the clause of the treaty in reference thereto is open to different interpretations and, therefore, the matter can probably be settled readily by Secretary Hughes, who is now in Europe in a non-official capacity.

It is now assured that our new district court building will be quite attractive and that it will have ample accommodation for all the court functions to be carried on there. The one query yet unanswered is, When will it be finished?

Wanted Disappointed

While preaching one Sunday the vicar seemed very abstracted. His eyes were continually straying toward a small window by his side. Quite suddenly he surprised his congregation by exclaiming "I thought so!" On leaving the church after the service, an old parishioner asked him the meaning of his words and absent-mindedness. The vicar replied: "While I was preaching, I was looking out of the window at an old woman who was pulling a cabbage. All I could think was, 'When that cabbage comes up, over you'll go! And I was right!'"

Circumstantial Evidence

"Anna, my husband came home very late last night; can you tell me what time he came?" "Please, ma'am, I don't know exactly, but when I got up this morning, master's overcoat was still swinging backwards and forwards on the peg."

Friend of the Oppressed

A sailor on leave was strolling in the country when he saw, for the first time in his life, two men working with a two-handed crosscut saw. He stood for about a quarter of an hour watching the two men, one of whom was very tall, while the other was short. At last he made a sudden spring and, despite the taller man's blow in the face, "What's this?" stammered the big man. "You big coward!" cried the sailor. "I've been watching you for the last quarter of an hour trying to take that saw from the little fellow!"—Minneapolis Tribune.

Anxious Moments

"By the way," said the man who had stopped at an English farmhouse to water his horse, "15 years ago a poor boy came and asked you to let him in." "Yes," queried the farmer, somewhat surprised. "You were kind to him," went on the stranger. "You told him, gave him words of encouragement and an old suit of clothes, put half a crown in his pocket and sent him on his way rejoicing. He told you at the time that you would never regret your kindness. Am I right?" "Yes," said the farmer, "I remember the boy very well. He was a fine fellow, a fair tale, doesn't it? Why, you must have seen him." "I have," said the stranger, "and he sent a message to you." "What is it?" the farmer asked, expectantly. "He told me to tell you that he is still poor."

The Coming of the Birds

On that far day when time itself was new, And all the world was rainbow-starred with dew, The birds were fashioned with the thought of God, And some were golden plumage, some snow-white, Others flushed past on plumes of silver bright, Brown-hued were some, there sped a ruby crest, And pauser, one with heaven on its breast, High—and more high—the happy minstrel soared, Song healing upon song in true accord, Up to the walls of Paradise they went, Where angels crowded, mute with wonderment, To watch the shining hosts go circling, Than, suddenly, through the music rang a cry— And on the moment every sound was still, Save for a little angel's voice, joy-filled: "Look, look, my brothers, oh! what beautiful things, Are these dear thoughts of God that come on wings!" —INOCENT CLARK.

Page Dan O'Leary! Joseph Belanger, who camps at Lakeview during the summer, says he has a new walking chamber in the person of his friend, Frederick Duke of Cambridge, Mass., who has been visiting at Joe's camp. According to information given us by Mr. Belanger, Duke recently walked around Lake Massawippi in 35 minutes and 37 seconds. If you think that isn't fast time, try it yourself and see, says Joe.

"Say it with ukulele," is the latest fad. Boys and girls, young and old, now going on their vacations do not regard their equipment as complete unless a "uke" is carried along. Two priests and one nun is the contribution of the Connors family of Twelfth street, to the ranks of religion. Rev. Arthur Connors is an Oblate priest in Buffalo, N. Y., James Connors will be ordained to the priesthood next year, and Celia Connors will take her final vows in the Dominican sisterhood next Monday. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. Connors may be justly proud of their children. Mr. Connors is the well-known machinist of the Merrimack Mfg. Co., and the family consists of several more children. "Larry," who used to be connected with The Sunday Telegram, is now employed by the Presto-Lite Battery firm in New York. Joe is the popular member of the local police department; Helen is a clerk in a local department store; Catherine is a pupil of the Lowell Normal school, and Francis, the youngest, will graduate from St. Michael's school next June.

George Pearson, vault custodian at city hall for the election commission, sportsman, fisherman, deer tracker and agriculturist, comes to bat with a suggestion that he awards will knock corn borers for a row of withered apple trees. "I've got it," says George, "yes, I've got it." And here is what George says will kill borers faster than they can bore. Take a shaker, about the size of a good-sized salt shaker, fill it with powdered borax and shake it on the tips of the corn tassels. That's all, except taps for the borers. It bodes them, they do not haunter after it, at all, at all, and they just naturally drop a whiff of the borax, tumble off the tassels and die. We do not dare say how long it might take a man to thus travel over a corn patch of several acres, but if the cure really is effective, it would be time well spent. For writing this article, George has promised to let us look at the corn mips of his and George Benson's from the Grand Banks. That's a hot one!

Residents and business men of Centerville will be pleased to learn that one of the main arteries which are to be equipped with type B white way lights is Bridge street. Years ago an attempt was made to get the white way lights known as type A on the business section of this street, and since the Central bridge was equipped with type B white way lights, there has been considerable talk of putting the city to put similar lights at least as far as Sixth street, for persons going towards Centerville in the evening seemingly plunge into darkness after leaving the brilliantly lighted bridge and getting into the section of Bridge street where the stores are located. Without doubt this was not good for business and the business men especially will be pleased with the announcement that the street is to be modernly lighted before the first of next year.

QUARTER CENTURY AGO

A well attended patriotic meet under the auspices of Tewksbury Grange was held 25 years ago in the Grange hall, Tewksbury. A fine program of readings, vocal selections and recitations was given by members of the various granges attending. Among the interesting topics treated were: "What shall we do with the Philippines?" and "Our Spanish War; could it have been avoided?" An interesting paper on "History of Progress" was also read.

Day Nursery Picnic

The fifth annual picnic of the Day Nursery was held 25 years ago on the grounds of Col. Dixon in the Oaklands. Nearly 2000 children were present and a merry time was enjoyed. Thirty swings and eighteen hammocks were placed at the children's disposal while police officials and paid attendants kept a watchful eye on the youngsters that none might be injured. A program of sports including baseball, running matches and eating contests, for boys, was carried out. The girls also had a fine program. The Lowell Military band, James A. Murphy, leader, furnished the music during the day. The D. L. Page company served luncheon and also provided swings and ice cream for the kiddies. In the evening a light lunch was served following which a band concert and short entertainment were enjoyed.

Veteran Firemen

A grand competition in which local veteran firemen participated was held in Tewksbury 25 years ago. Lowell had two tubs in the contest. Despite the fact that both devices were disabled, the local men captured third prize. The Butlers, who were the favorites, were badly beaten, their tub going to pieces. The Warrens of Pepperell were also popular and their work was highly commended by spectators. The Vben of this city attained a "score" of 318 feet 4 1/2 inches, while the Warrens of Pepperell won first money with a distance of 238 feet 3 1/2 inches. The judges of the contest were Chief George Cushing, C. H. Grant, Dist. Chief Hooper, P. H. Hoodley, Edward Phinney and Chief F. D. Stevens of Pepperell.

Noted Singer Died

Mrs. Catherine Quinn, one of Lowell's oldest and highly respected residents, died 25 years ago after a brief illness. She had seen the city grow from a village to a municipality, and at the time St. Peter's church was built, Mrs. Quinn was one of the first to join the choir. In later years, together with her late husband, John Quinn, she loyally supported the religious work of the parish.

Cool Summer

On August 2, 1899, it was reported that up to that time the summer had been the coolest ever known locally. Robert C. Paradis, reporter for the Courier-Citizen, was visiting his parents in Cornwall, Ontario.

Back From the Klondike

Mr. Adolphe Delisle, well known local druggist, returned to this city 25 years ago after spending two years in the Klondike. He left Dawson City July 8, arriving here July 31. Mr. Delisle reported that his trip had been most pleasant and that he had enjoyed it. He brought home with him a small bag of nuggets, and taking all in all he said he was glad he had visited the Klondike region.

25 Years Wed

Miss O'Neill McPherson, formerly of this city, and G. Kitching of West Falm, Fla., were married July 28, 1899, in the latter city.

Sumner Williams and Miss Louise Shepherd were married in Nashua, N. H., on July 30, 1899.

Felix Rochette and Miss Mary Plourde, both residents of this city, were married at St. Jean Baptiste church, July 29, 1899, by Rev. J. Gagnon, O.M.I.

Mr. Slattery's Test of Intelligence

The old sun had a very interesting article dealing with the public reading room at the city library at that time under the supervision of Mr. E. P. Slattery. Mr. Slattery told an interesting story of the number of men young and old, who made a practice of visiting the reading room daily and pouring over the leading newspapers including those of New York, Boston, Lowell, Worcester and Providence. As a rule they spent about an hour to perusal of their favorite newspapers and were thus well informed upon the news of the day and the editorial views of the leading newspapers of the east. Mr. Slattery judged of the intelligence of the readers visiting the room, by noting the amount of attention they gave to the editorial columns of the newspapers, which he regarded as of even more importance than the news of the day.

To Oust Mule Spinners

Agent Southwest of the Massachusetts mills announced his intention of introducing a large number of spinning frames to take the place of the mule spinners who had gone out on strike. The Mason Machine company of Taunton was the firm employed to manufacture the frames. That was the beginning of a movement to do away with mule spinning.

Miss Emma Armistead and Lorenzo Ayer were married August 2 by Rev. F. A. Courter of the Mt. Vernon church.

CONNET

To one who has been long in city pen,
'Tis very sweet to look into the fair
And open face of heaven—to breathe a prayer
Full in the smile of the blue firmament.
Who is more happy, when, with heart content,
Fatigued he sinks into some pleasant lair
Of waving grass, and reads a debonaire
And gentle tale of love and languishment?
Returning home at evening, with an ear
Catching the notes of Philomel—an eye
Watching the sailing cloudlet's bright career,
He mourns that day so soon has glided by,
Even like the passage of an angel's tear
That falls through the clear ether silently.

—John Keats.

Budgeting

Hal Cochran's
DAILY POEM

"Say, where in the deuce does our money all go?" What couples have never asked that? The answer is something they feel they should know or they never can tell just where they're at.

"Tis the bane of her life to the dear little wife 'cause the worries 'bout money don't end. So her mate fondly kisses the worrying missus and says, 'We'll mark down what we spend.'"

A book just for budgeting's purchased that day. There are pages for every expense. At last they've discovered a neat little way to schedule their dollars and cents.

They sit by the table, a budgeting bent, till both of them near full asleep. They'll keep perfect figures on what they have spent and they won't have to read 'em and weep.

"Oh, golly," says the wife, "think how happy we'll be, for this budget will blot out our sorrow." The mister agrees but he says, "If you please, let us start on the budget tomorrow."

Tomorrows may come and tomorrows may go, and today, if you'll take a close look, the only real mark that the pages will show is the price that they paid for the book.

DAVIS IN WASHINGTON IRISH TREATY CHANGES

Will Return to New York For Another Conference With Shaver Tomorrow

Doubt Influence of Ulster With Free Staters—For Week-End Conference

LOCUST VALLEY, N. Y., Aug. 2.—In the seclusion of his home here on Long Island, John W. Davis, pressed forward today to the completion of the address he is to deliver in his home town of Clarkburg a week from next Monday in accepting the democratic presidential nomination.

He had before him merely a process of revision, the bulk of the work having been accomplished during his weeks in Maine. He expected to place the final draft in the hands of the printers tonight and was to clear the way for the devotion of his time early next week to the perfection of his campaign organization in consultation with Clem L. Shaver, his campaign manager and other advisers.

Mr. Davis is in Washington today in connection with organization matters but will return to New York tomorrow. He will accompany Mrs. Davis to Clarkburg for the nomination ceremonies and from there he will go to Chicago to arrange for the opening of western headquarters. Later he will proceed to Lincoln, Neb., to be present when Governor Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, is formally notified on August 15, of his nomination as the democratic vice presidential candidate.

WILL DISCUSS NEED OF SCHOOL BUILDING

On Monday evening next, in adjourned town meeting, voters of Tewksbury will renew discussion relative to the need of a new school building. A lively meeting is looked for. Chairman H. M. Billings, of the committee appointed at last town meeting to investigate the town's need for a new school building or additions and alterations to the old Foster school, is to present his report which will include recommendations.

The other members of the committee handling the subject in survey and recommendation, include Benjamin Spaulding, Franklin Spaulding, H. A. Page, Hector Jackson, Arthur Foster and Mrs. H. M. Larrabee.

MAY LEASE HOG ISLAND TO PRIVATE FIRM

PHILADELPHIA, August 2.—Negotiations are under way for the lease by private interests of Hog Island, the war-time shipbuilding plant, Rear Admiral Leigh C. Palmer, retired, president of the United States Shipping board, said today. The rear admiral yesterday visited the deserted shipways on the Delaware river and the basin where a flotilla of war-time wooden cargo carriers lies in idleness. He declined to disclose the details of the negotiations.

A SPACE AND WASTE SAVING PLAN

Copyright, 1923—Architects' Small House Service Bureau. Plan No. 5424

Here is a straightforward plan that utilizes the space without waste and provides all desired conveniences. It is a story and one-half combining a Colonial front with an English roof in a small formal house. The house is planned to be erected of wood frame on masonry foundations, exterior finish wood shingles, wood siding or stucco for the walls, a shingle roof and wood frontpiece and trellis. The house can be placed on a 40 to 50 foot lot in width, depending on whether or not the porch is built. If the gable end is placed towards the street, it can be accommodated on a 30 foot lot in width, with the stoop at the side. A feature of the house is the flexibility of the porch, which can be omitted or placed to the rear of the living room, as desired. There are five main rooms, with bathroom and six closets. The living room runs from the front to the rear, and the stairway is in the center of the house. The house is planned to face north of west, and for other facings the plans should be reversed. There is a full basement under the main portion of the house, containing laundry, heating and fuel bins. Two bedrooms on the second floor have cross-ventilation, light and air. The kitchen will invite the housekeeper's interest. It is step saving, light and contains all the fixtures she can possibly need just where she wants them. Outside icing is provided. The fireplace in the living room not only is a feature, but it takes care of the heater and fireplace flues. This, of course, is an economical arrangement.

A rent receipt is not much of an asset. It is the written permission of the landlord for the occupancy of a few square feet of floor space, for about thirty days,—after that it is valueless.

Why Not Build a Home and Be Your Own Landlord?

The interest on the investment, plus taxes and repairs, certainly would be less than the rent demanded for such a Home as you desire, or the landlord could not afford to invest his money in property to rent. On the other hand, the value of the feeling of ownership of a Home, a safe refuge, for yourself and family, and a place to entertain your friends, cannot be estimated.

WINS SCIENCE MEDAL.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—This year's Leibniz silver medal of the Prussian Academy of Sciences has been awarded to Franklin Lisa Molner, professor of physics at the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Dahlen, near Berlin, in recognition of her researches on radium.

The Iron (formerly golden) medal went to Franz von Mondosohn, president of the German chamber of commerce, for frequent support given to scientific undertakings of various kinds.

AUTO PAINTING OF FIRST CLASS QUALITY

Every automobile owner with discriminating faculties, planning to have "the car" furnished up anew with good paint and varnish, wants to be sure of the man who takes the job and promises to do the work desired. Now house-painters would be called upon to do a first-class job on a high-grade automobile. Not every man handy with paint and brushes in other fields of the lead and oils where the profession of painters flourish and perform excellent work in their various lines, would be willing to tackle an automobile and do the job. There is a "knack" about painting a motor car and making it look like a new purchase.

The arrow points to the corner of Moody and Pawtucket streets, directly to the huge second floor quarters over the Moody Bridge garage. The name over the paint shop front is J. O. Leclerc, and he is the man you should see when you want that automobile covered with fresh paint and varnish as it should be covered.

The J. O. Leclerc auto and carriage painting establishment is too well known to receive praise in these columns. No welders of the paint brushes anywhere in New England can perform an auto or carriage painting job with any finer results than the busy Leclerc and his staff of expert painters, who are a match class artists in their life of endeavor.

When you want that car glossed up or dressed in some other shade, get in touch with the house Leclerc at Moody and Pawtucket streets. You will be glad that you received the tip when you want a genuine painting and varnishing job executed on that automobile or carriage. The telephone number is 4559-W.

AUTO BODY REPAIRS AT LOWEST PRICES

Removing dents from bodies and fenders of automobiles is not a painting vocation. It is a genuine, understanding, experience and careful preparation for the handling of the job at hand.

Lowell Auto Body Repair company, located at a most convenient station at the corner of Pawtucket and Moody streets, is always the busiest must of auto frame and fender repairs in Lowell. Indeed, there are few concerns that care to perform such work, preferring to let George do it. Only workmen of long experience and familiar with every kind of damage received by automobile bodies and fenders in road collisions or break-downs and roadside collapse of the sort that result in property damage on rough roads, can make the cars look like new.

First-class work is always the rule at the Lowell auto body repair concern's establishment, where lowest prices as well as finest workmanship in renovations prevail.

If you think that jammed-up fender on your favorite car cannot be made new, drive it to the establishment conducted by Prop. Wahl and have it looked over. You may save a lot of money by visiting Pawtucket and Moody streets and learning the truth. Badly dented car bodies are also made over with expert attention to detail, so that damaged appearances are removed and the construction shape retained and finished like new in every detail.

The business of the Lowell Auto Body Repair company has constantly expanded since its establishment not very long ago. It is a good place to go whenever you get into a "jam" and dislike the appearance of those jammed fenders and dented car bodies. Cars will be sent for and delivered, if necessary.

AUTOCHROME PLATES FOR COLORED PHOTOS

Webster's dictionary qualifies the word "unique" as "without another of the same kind; unparalleled; single in kind or excellence."

Those who have become familiar with the Will Rounds photographing studio at 112 First street, its ideal location, surroundings and photographing achievements, not only in the ordinary branches of photography, but the uncommon, will not deny that it is alone in advancement.

By the wonderful autochrome plate, the joys of your summer garden can be preserved in all its beauties for winter enjoyment. Are results satisfactory always? That is promised and, of course, to be expected as well. Will Rounds produces rare photographs of garden and nature scenes in all their natural colors, many of which have been admired in numerous exhibition halls. "They have more than once been called 'the best yet seen in America.'"

The extensive gardens surrounding this studio, while principally existing for Mr. Rounds' personal pleasure, were planned and laid out for "pictures." That real "pictures" are produced that please, is best proven by displays seen at the studio or a sitting. There are arrangements especially adapted to ladies and children, allowing for more natural and picturesque results than the usual studio poses. Before summer goes, make an early appointment. The telephone is No. 2410.

LOWELL'S MODERN CLOTHES CLEANSERS

The business of cleaning clothes is fast becoming a specially occupation—a very important one, in fact, in the world of clothing and its care and upkeep. Modern cleaning establishments perform an important part in keeping the people well dressed and comfortable. Modern cleaning is in the money-saving category. Also, for men and women who take good care of their clothing it has a real lasting value and wearing qualities.

It pays to employ the services of a modern cleaning house that caters to those who want finest work performed at lowest prices. The Up-to-Date Cleaning and Dyeing company, at 81 Moody street is widely known, carries on a large and steadily increasing business, and is ready at all times to convince would-be patrons that their cleaning, dyeing and clothes-pressing service cannot be equaled for excellence and prices commensurate with the work at hand.

merchandising combine over organized has started the farmers' co-operatives toward development of a chain store system that would combat any monopolistic efforts of such a combination.

According to the All-American Co-operative commission, whose headquarters are in this city, co-operative chain stores will be established soon in various parts of the country.

In a number of agricultural states farmers' co-operative chain stores have already proved successful. The Farmers' union of Kentucky now announces the extension of its chain store system and the development of new district warehouses to supply their needs.

Recently New York and London bankers announced formation of the 14 largest chain store systems in the country into perhaps the world's largest chain store system, with a total of 10,000 stores scattered throughout the country.

ment is going to combat this monopolistic chain store menace with co-operative chain stores owned by the people instead of the big bankers, comes word from co-operative officials.

The co-operative movement has been growing tremendously throughout the world. There are more than 10,000 farmers' co-operatives in the United States. Business transacted by them is estimated to run well over the $2,000,000,000 mark.

These activities follow four main lines of marketing, besides considerable collective purchasing. There are 2600 grain co-operatives, 1841 for dairy products, 1152 for livestock and 556 for fruits and vegetables.

Co-operatives for purchasing farm and home supplies are doing a business of $60,000,000 annually. There are about 1900 of these in this country.

BICYCLES STILL IN POPULAR DEMAND

The world of wheelmen today contains many more members than were listed a few years ago. The popularity of bicycling is greater than ever, notwithstanding the tremendous sales of new automobiles everywhere and the heavy increase in sales of motorcycles also. The popular house of George H. Bachelder, dealer in motorcycles and bicycles of the finest popular trade selections, finds business rushing as usual at the familiar business mart on Postoffice avenue.

The Bachelder concern's slogan "Ride a Bicycle, also means 'Ride a Motorcycle,' of course, if you prefer the latter. The demand for bicycles today is ever increasing. There are demands from young and old for two-wheeled vehicles of various types, accessories and makes. Children's vehicles, sundries and supplies are always in stock for ready selection and prompt deliveries. The bicycle department contains the famous Indian, Crown, Hartford and Red Wing makes, and all bicycles offered for sale are displayed for customers' inspection. Call any time and look them over.

It is easy to ride a wheel—healthful—easy to pay for the wheel you buy. And accommodating Bachelder's always give service of the very best quality. The phone number is 1758. If you want to talk it over with the wide-awake salesman before calling.

Call a real taxi when you want to reach the railroad station, the club or the golf links on time. Remember the telephone number: "7096—the Lowell Town Taxi." You will be sure to get where you want to go when you remember that number. "Once used, always used."

Courteous drivers, comfortable cars with "boats that safely." No ultra-speeding—just prompt, non-jolting movement from one point to another, and safety first, guaranteed. At all times by the careful, long-experienced drivers of the transportation plans operating under the familiar banners of the Lowell Town Taxi company.

Since the establishment of the headquarters and call station of the Lowell Town Taxi company at 408 Middlesex street, the service has been greatly enlarged and more cars placed in service for Lowell and Middlesex county town patronage. The service is unquestionably the very best to be found in any city in New England.

Friendly, gentlemanly drivers, who are information bureaus in the bargain, always careful motor car handlers and long experienced in getting to destinations without delays or accidents, make the Lowell Town Taxi service what it is today. Day or night calls are answered with equal promptness and dispatch. The phone number is 7096.

STOCK MARKET

London cables stating that the reparations conference had reached a complete agreement stimulated the buying of stocks at the opening of today's market, which exhibited a firm tone. Oils, rails, steels and coppers were most in demand, but initial changes as a rule were small. Magna Copper advanced a point and Schults Stores moved up fractionally to a new 1924 high. S. S. Kresge dropped 2 points and Willys-Overland fell 1. Prices continued to move upward throughout the early trading, although the market was called upon to absorb another large volume of week-end profit-taking. Atlantic Electric climbed nearly a point, West Penn Power 2 1/2, and Congoleum, General Electric, Air Reduction and Pere Marquette common moved up a point or so. Additional new highs were recorded by Pittsburgh and W. Va. Erie, Erie pfd., U. S. Hoffman Machinery and Public Service of New Jersey common. Hayes Wheel, Cuban Cane, pfd., American Woolen and Atlantic Coast Line fell back 1 to 1 1/2 points. Foreign exchanges moved briskly in reflection of the better reparations news, demand starting moving up 3 cents to $4.42 1/2, the highest price of the year, while French francs climbed nearly 15 points to 54 1/2.

H. M. Byliss and Co., have announced the purchase of the St. Cloud Public Service company and its subsidiaries, which operates public utility properties in St. Cloud and 53 other companies in central Minnesota. While public participation in the stock market has increased noticeably since the inception of the current upward movement, commission houses report that buyers had been quick to take profits. This accounts for the fact that most recent trading sessions had suffered serious interruption from realizing sales. At the same time the tendency to switch operations from one stock to another has resulted in conflicting price movement in various sections of the list. Stock prices were still pointing upward when the eighth successive week of the bull market ended today. Some irregularity developed in the early trading as a result of another large volume of week-end profit-taking, but good buying support was provided for nearly all standard railroad and industrial issues. Bullish demonstrations were encouraged by London cables stating that the allied committees on reparations had reached a complete agreement and had invited the Germans to meet with them next week. General Electric soared nearly six points to a new record high for all time at 265 1/2, and Pittsburgh and West Virginia climbed three points to 54 1/2, the year's best price. "Nickel Plate," Chesapeake and Ohio and Schulte Stores also broke through their previous high levels but weakness cropped out in Willys-Overland and pfd., and Otis Steel pfd. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 500,000 shares.

Chicago Murderer "Mentally Ill" on Day of Crime, Expert Asserts

Crowe Asks If Lad Was Crazy But Question Is Ruled Out

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Richard Loeb was "mentally ill" on May 21, 1924, when he and Nathan Leopold, Jr., kidnapped and murdered Robert Franks, it was testified on cross-examination today by Dr. Wm. A. White.

Judge John R. Caverly sustained an objection by Walter Bacharach of defense counsel, when Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, tried to learn whether the expert thought Loeb was insane. The same opinion was given to Leopold. The session developed a sharp sparring match between the witness and prosecutor.

Another objection was sustained. "What criminal intent?" was asked at another stage of the battle of wits. "I don't know, you tell me," was the comeback.

"Haven't you referred to it?" "No, I used the term 'criminalistic tendencies'." The doctor defined this as "antisocial" and then that "responsibility" was a "legal fiction," and at last a critique of society.

Sometimes Mr. Crowe's questions elicited a smile from the doctor; again he insisted upon going into lengthy explanations when the state's attorney asked for "yes or no answer."

"What is impossible to give," was Mr. White's usual response to such attempts. Mr. Crowe once asked if the doctor thought Loeb had "dementia praecox, yes or no."

"If he can't answer yes or no, let him answer as he pleases," said Judge Caverly. "Is dementia praecox legal insanity?" asked Mr. Crowe.

"That is for your lawyers to say," retorted the doctor over the "objection sustained" that came from Mr. Bacharach and the court simultaneously.

Mr. Crowe started with a question as to the witness statement that Loeb had considered killing members of his family and also Leopold. "What is your authority for this?" asked Mr. Crowe.

"Loeb himself," said the doctor. "The fact that he told you this but not the state's attorney was significant?"

"I never considered it as I did not know exactly what he had told you," said Dr. White.

Dr. White said the only authority he had for saying that Leopold had considered killing Loeb was a letter written by the former.

Mr. Crowe asked a child of five could say that he had contemplated killing the grandson of the president of the company with which his father was connected and then ask to keep that name out because dad is out at Sears-Roebuck & Co. and it might embarrass Julius Rosenwald.

Mr. Rosenwald is president of Sears-Roebuck & Co. of which firm Loeb's father is an executive officer. "That would show affection for his father," the doctor said.

The questioning went into the doctor's definitions of such things as "depravity" and "moral insanity" and the distinction between right and wrong. The doctor said "depravity" was a "moral term, not a psychiatric word at all."

"You say that Loeb and Leopold are mentally sick, but you will not say they are legally insane," said the state's attorney. "What, the fact that their lawyers desire them to appear here in just that light, cause you to back away from an expression of opinion on that?"

A sustained objection blocked any answer to this insinuation. "Can Loeb distinguish between right and wrong?" was another question that caused a deal of sparring as to the "sense" in which it was meant, whether "ordinarily" or "legally."

"What is right?" "I would like to know," was the cryptic reply. "Did Loeb know on May 21 that it was wrong to kill Robert Franks?" "He knew it was against the law."

"Did he know it was morally wrong?" "He could not distinguish exactly." "He is legally insane."

WEEK'S MORTALITY REPORT

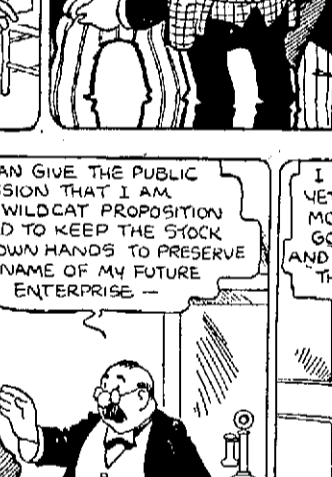

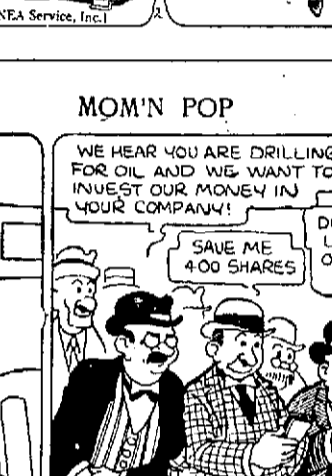

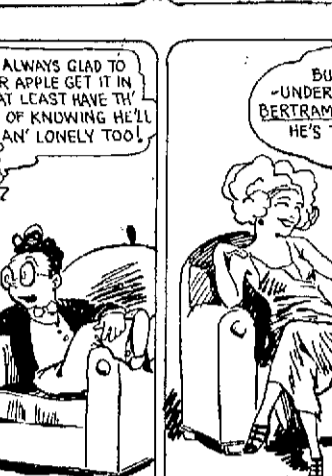

The mortality rate for this city for the week ending Aug. 2 was 11.53 compared with 12.45 for the two weeks previous. The number of deaths were 25, of which seven were children under five years of age and six infants under one year. Two deaths from tuberculosis and one from pneumonia were reported.

Among the infectious diseases reported at the board of health office during the week were six cases of measles, three of tuberculosis, two of diphtheria and one of scarlet fever.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 12

"There is someone coming," whispered one of the sailors, as he peered through his field glasses. "Let me see," said Jack. And the little adventurer took the glasses and looked out over the ice. Sure enough, three queer looking people were trudging along. And one of them was very small.

"Oh, gee," shouted Jack. "I'll bet that's the little boy that this fur suit belongs to. Wonder what he will say when he sees we with it on." "Oh, he won't hurt you," laughed one of the sailors. "guess they are Eskimos and they are always nice people." Then the Eskimos walked up.

"Ugla hub," said the father Eskimo. Of course Jack didn't know what that meant, but one of the sailors stuck out his hand and shook hands with the man. At the same time the mother Eskimo bowed. So Jack figured that they were friendly and he walked over to shake hands with the boy. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

SO HE HUNTED ALL OVER HIS AMUSEMENT PARK

"The very idea!" said Mister Zip, when the Twins told him what Scamper and Scramble had done. "If those squirrel boys are getting into my park for nothing, sliding down trees the way they do, and the mole boy is getting in by digging tunnels under the fence, it's no wonder I'm not making my fortune. I shall have to put a stop to it at once!" So he hunted all over his amusement park until he found the squirrels. They were buying peanuts at the peanut stand. "I've got a nickel left for butter-milk," said Scamper to Scramble. "So have I," said Scramble to Scamper. Of course you'll think it queer that they were not buying lemonade or soda water or ice cream cones, but squirrels love butter-milk much better than any of them. Mister Zip and Nancy and Nick heard them. "I think if you have a nickel left, you'd better give it to me to pay your way in," said the fairyman. "What for?" asked Scramble. "You came in down the sycamore tree," said Mister Zip, "and that's not allowed. The sign says 'Birds and Rabbits Free,' but you are not birds and you are not rabbits, either, so you will have to pay me. It doesn't say

BROADWAY SOCIAL AND ATHLETIC CLUB'S SWIMMING MEET

Big Day on the Merrimack River Tomorrow—Meet Will Be Largest Attraction of Its Kind Ever Held in This Vicinity

The Broadway Social and Athletic club's swimming meet, scheduled to be conducted tomorrow in the Merrimack river, promises to be a record-breaking event in the history of the sport in this vicinity. The meet, which will be held on the Merrimack river, is the largest of its kind ever held in this vicinity. From the official start of the 15-mile swim down the river from Nashua, the day will be filled with exciting contests for the "water sprites," with fancy diving, exhibition swimming and contests of other make-up featuring an all-day program that ought to be a winner.

Fourteen entries have been recorded for the 15-mile swim. Well known "paddlers" of ponds, rivers and ocean waves have entered the feature attraction. At 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, those entered in the long swim will meet at the Broadway club-house. After checking in, they will be taken to a point on the Hudson, N. H., bridge by automobiles. Boats will follow the swimmers all the way down stream. James W. Walker will start the race off and will then return to Lowell to handle the afternoon river sports and contests.

The contests to be pulled off near the bathhouse will start at 2:30. The lineup: John Newson, William Melloy, William Walsh, Eugene A. Fitzgerald, Timothy O'Sullivan and Stephen C. Garvey. The official starter for the 15-mile swim will be Commodore James H. Walker. The start at 9:30 a. m. at Hudson-Nashua bridge.

OUTING AT CANOBIE LAKE
Live Wire Committee Plans Picnic for Children of St. Peter's Orphanage

The annual outing of the children of St. Peter's orphanage, tendered annually by the members of the orphanage association, will this year be held at Canobie Lake park next Tuesday, and promises to be an event of genuine enjoyment to all.

Tentative plans have been in the making for some time and last evening a meeting of the committee in charge was held at St. Margaret's rectory.

At 1 o'clock there was served a clam bake and lobster dinner, prepared excellently by Sam MacDonald, who is justly famed for his ability to concoct good things to eat, particularly in the sea food line. As guests of the overseers at dinner were Agent Paul A. Reed, Supt. A. E. Gregory and David Healey, for many years paymaster of the corporation.

The afternoon program included a rifle shoot, with a half dozen blankets as prizes; contests, a baseball game and other sports.

The committee in charge of the outing arrangements was headed by Orrin H. Webster and included Fred Whittier, George Stewart, George Shields, Edward Sweett, Charles Boutilier and Charles Barnard.

BIG TIME AT ALMONT
Overseers and Second-Hands Club of Massachusetts Mills Hold Annual Outing

Between 60 and 70 members of the overseers and second-hands' club of the Massachusetts cotton mills and several invited guests, left the mill this noon for the Massachusetts recreation grounds at Almont for the annual outing of the organization. Fifteen automobiles were used for transportation.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Important Action Looked For at Special Meeting Scheduled for Monday

Monday's special meeting of the public service board is expected to bring about important developments in the conduct of the street department, in the opinion of persons who have followed the matter closely.

The meeting, called for noon Monday, is to take action on the letter received from the mayor which calls for the placing of responsibility for the street department behind in its schedule of work. It is expected a reply to the letter will be agreed upon at the meeting.

At Thursday's meeting of the board the letter was referred to the superintendent of streets to prepare detail so that a comprehensive answer could be forwarded to the mayor, also to provide an estimate so that the board would know how much more money will be needed to carry on the department's work during the remainder of the year.

Members of the board interviewed today would not make any statement concerning the matter but acknowledged the meeting was likely to be an interesting one.

PREDICT LABOR TO ENDORSE TICKET

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor today is expected to receive the report of its national presidential campaign committee and labor leaders here as lookers-on at the annual session of the council are expected to endorse the candidates of Senators La Follette and Wheeler.

Forecasters that the council will endorse these candidates for the presidency and vice presidency are coupled with assurances that the American Federation of Labor will not go so far as to pledge its support to all candidates who link their names with those of La Follette and Wheeler on a party ticket.

BACK FROM DEVENS

Battery B and Combat Train Huskies Return From Training Camp

B Battery, Headquarters Company and Combat Train, 162d Field Artillery, M.N.G., returned to Lowell barracks early this afternoon, winding up their annual two weeks' war practice tour of field duty at Camp Devens. The troop train bringing the Lowell boys home was scheduled to arrive at Middlesex street station at 11:10, daylight saving time, but was one hour late.

The Lowell contingent occupied six cars, including the "hats," bringing the big 55's and the camp baggage and campaign equipment. The battery men were brought to the railroad station, where they debarked and formed a procession for the march to Westford street headquarters. Several hundred men and women, most of them relatives of the troopers, greeted the battery men enthusiastically as they scampered out of the special cars and shook hands with everybody within reaching distance.

There were 154 national guardsmen in the homecoming group of lanned officers and men. All call it the best tour of duty ever.

Refreshments were served at the armory after final roll-call and dismissal.

RECEIVES LETTER FROM JOHN W. DAVIS

Miss Irene Mathews, secretary of the Lowell Advertising club, this morning received a letter from John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, acknowledging her invitation to address a joint meeting of the Advertising, Lions and Rotary clubs of this city.

Soon after he was selected as the democratic standard-bearer, Miss Mathews wrote to Mr. Davis asking him to come to Lowell. His reply, written at his temporary headquarters in New York, expressed appreciation of the invitation, but the nominee could not state definitely as to his coming to this city. If it would not interfere with the plans of his campaign committee, he wrote, he would gladly arrange a tour to include this neighborhood.

CONTINUE KLAN CASES IN HAVERHILL

HAVERHILL, Aug. 2.—Continuance until Aug. 16 was agreed to in the local court today by counsel for the eleven men against whom charges of disturbance are pending as a result of the Klan rioting here at Groveland, Wednesday night. The fact that Edmund Lucy and Francis Colter, anti-klan demonstrators, were operated on today for the removal of gunshot prevented their appearance in court and Assistant District Attorney H. C. Thompson asked that the cases be put over so that all might be tried together.

State Constable Oliver LeBlanc who made most of the original arrests today arrested James Culbert, who was in court on charge of disturbance. It is alleged he was the driver of the automobile containing anti-klan demonstrators. Officer LeBlanc testified Thursday that Klan sympathizers fired into this car and that shots were returned.

FINED FOR ILLEGALLY KEEPING BEER

Joseph N. Tremblay was fined $50 in district court this morning when he pleaded guilty to illegally keeping beer. He was arrested in his home in Alden street yesterday afternoon when officers William Lison, John Leahy and William Keegan of the liquor squad raided his premises and found 116 bottles of alleged home brew.

A similar case was imposed on Henry Baroque, who was also charged with illegally keeping beer.

WILLOWDALE Eddie Brook's Dancing Orchestra DANCING TONIGHT

Miss Jeanette Laplante, of the history department will spend her vacation at Salisbury.

Mr. Frank Taylor, buyer of boys' clothing, accompanied by his wife, will visit points of interest in Canada during the next two weeks.

Mr. Thomas Teague, of the men's furnishings, is enjoying two weeks' vacation.

Miss Yvonne Lambert, of Gagnon's Annex, will divide her time among the various beaches.

Miss Jessie Macdams, of the glove department is leaving tonight for Oak Bluffs.

Mrs. Evelyn Beaumont of the millinery department will spend her vacation at the Freddie estate, Hampton beach.

Mrs. M. Carrier of the infants' wear section is on a two weeks' vacation.

Mr. Ralph Volmar, well known shoe salesman, will visit Gloucester and Provincetown.

BROTHERS ARE FREED

Were Held Charged With The Murder of Their Parents Ten Years Ago

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 2.—Benjamin and Chester Dorschner, charged by their brother, Frank, with having murdered their parents in this city, in April, 1910, were released at a habeas corpus hearing held before Judge Hassler today. The release came when Frank, the accusing brother, failed on the witness stand to establish his charge.

HELD PARENTS' DAY EXERCISES

Parents' day exercises were held last evening at the Broadway club, on Fletcher street. Parents and friends of the entertainers were present. The program was as follows: Group dances by Florence Gordon, Mary Tell, Mary Whalen, Teresa Dalton, Helen Richard, Bernice and Mary Gannon; songs, Maile Cummings, Roba Reynolds, Rose Whalen, Julia and Gertrude Regan, Muriel Koyon and Sadie Goronik. Mr. Gibson officiated at the piano.

The affair was under the auspices of the North Common Dramatic club, Miss Sadie Goronik, president.

WHITE HOUSE FLAG IS AT HALF-STAFF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—In memory of President Harding, who died a year ago today, the White House flag was lowered today to half staff.

As a rule the flag is placed at half-mast only in case of official mourning, but it was raised at the White House that a special mark of respect was felt appropriate by President Coolidge, since this is still within the period of Mr. Harding's original term of office.

ARRAIGNED ON CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER

John H. Johnston of 20 Arthur st., operator of the automobile which struck 35-year-old Michael Moran in East Merrimack street on June 21, was arraigned in district court this morning on a technical charge of manslaughter, as the result of Mr. Moran's death in St. John's hospital yesterday.

Johnston pleaded not guilty to the charge, and Judge Enright continued the case to Sept. 6 when an inquest report will be submitted.

The accident involving Mr. Moran occurred on the morning of June 21 in East Merrimack street near the immaculate Conception church. He was struck and knocked down by the truck operated by Johnston, and was taken to St. John's hospital for treatment. For a time it was felt that he would recover, but during the past week he took a turn for the worse and death resulted yesterday morning.

EARLY MORNING ASSAULTS REPORTED

The day force of the police department are following up the report that two early-morning assaults took place in the vicinity of Liberty square today. About 11:45 a. m. a report was received at the station that an unknown man had been assaulted by two men at School street and Broadway and shortly afterwards, a second report stated that Patrick O'Neill of 262 Broadway, while proceeding to the Middlesex street depot to board a train for New York, was assaulted by two drunken men at Fletcher and Dutton streets. He was so badly beaten that he was forced to require treatment at St. John's hospital.

The only description the police have of the guilty parties is that one of them was about 24 years of age, and the other about 20.

SENTENCED TO THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION

In the district court today Timothy P. Reardon was found guilty of an non-support charge brought by his wife and was sentenced to three months in the house of correction. On appeal, he was ordered to pay $300 for his appearance in superior court next month.

OUTING AT REVERE BEACH

The annual outing of the C. F. Hatch Box company took place today at Revere Beach. The party, about 125 men and women, left the factory building on Church street and proceeded by two special cars to Revere beach. Games and sports were enjoyed on the sand, and a series of swimming races were arranged for those who preferred water sports. Miss Amelia Bennett was in charge of the outing. The return trip will be made at 8 o'clock.
